Bulganin May Be on Way Out

LONDON (UP)—It's Khrushchev and Mikoyan now instead of Khrushchev and Bulganin.

Moscow dispatches reported that Soviet Communist Party Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev had dropped Premier Nikolai Bulganin from the team of "B and K" for his visit to East Germany this week.

Instead Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan, the Soviet foreign trade expert who accompanied Khrushchev to Romania for talks with Marshal Tito, will go with the party chief to Germany.

There was renewed speculation in London that the spade-bearded premier would be kicked upstairs, possibly to replace President Klimenti Voroshilov, and that Khrushchev might be grooming Mikoyan for the premiership.

Western diplomats in London have said that Bulganin is on his way out because he is reported to have sided with the disgraced Molotov - Malenkov - Kaganovich trio during the recent Kremlin purge.

Stays Home

The original Soviet acceptance of an East German invitation said both Khrushchev and Bulganin would make the trip. But the Soviet press, without explanation, announced that Bulganin would stay home. The dispatch was given page one prominence.

Although Bulganin accompanied Khrushchev on his recent visit to Czechoslovakia, he was conspicuously absent during the secret Khrushchev-Tito talks on Soviet-Yugoslav relations.

There appeared little basis to rumors that Bulganin would be dropped altogether, or disgraced, as was the Malenkov trio. But since they were "exposed" Bulganin has dropped more and more into the background.

Cuban Officials To Act Against Strike Leaders

HAVANA, Cuba (UP)—The government ordered "energetic" action against opposition groups who called a general strike in Havana today. It warned against possible violence.

The army ordered the arrest of nine opposition labor leaders, including four Communists, and said action would be taken against anyone interfering with trade and commerce. It said all disturbing elements would be considered as "rebels" and treated as such

The ministers of labor, commerce and national defense warned employers not to "cooperate or contribute" to any strike plan.

President Fulgencio Batista said the government has taken all the necessary steps to upset the opposition plans to "foment anarchy." He said industry, commerce and Cubans in general could rest easy because the government was prepared to cope with the "plans of saboteurs-terrorists."

District Family Hurt in Mishap

A Monongahela family of three were injured in a motor accident late Saturday night on Route 88 near Fisher Heights.

Injured were Ellsworth Lauderback, of 1296 Wickerham Dr., the driver, his wife, and daughter, Carolyn. The mother and father were released after treatment at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital. The daughter was admitted with a back injury. Her condition was reported good today.

State police said they had no other details.

Monongahela Boy Is Still Missing

Monongahela police continued their search today for a 14-year-old boy who has been missing since July 16.

Police identified the boy as Charles (Chuck) Curcio, of 433 Second St., Monongahela. He is six feet tall, weighs 140 pounds and has light brown hair and blue eyes.

Any information concerning his whereabouts should be given to Monongahela police or the youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Curcio.

HITS 'SLIM' PILLS — Dr. S. William Kalb, nutritional expert from Newark, N. J., testifies in Washington before a House Government Operations subcommittee investigating misleading advertising of weight reducing aids Dr Kalb said that he considers weight-reducing pills inefficient, useless and a waste of time and money. He said they should be sold by prescription only.

Segregationist Forced Out of Nashville, Tenn.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—Segregationist John Kasper, chased from a city park by police, opened his campaign against integration of Nashville school by speaking Sunday in an open field.

About 12 policemen ignoring protesting shouts from a crowd of 200 onlookers escorted Kasper from the park when he showed up at the head of a motorcade to hold a publicized first anti-integration rally.

Kasper could not produce a permit for the rally. City officials had told newsmen earlier they doubted if they would issue Kasper a permit to speak inside the city.

The motorcade headed outside the city to a private field which apparently had been prepared for the eventuality of Kasper and others spoke from the back of a truck.

Robed Ku Klux Klansmen handed out literature while Kasper and the other speakers denounced the U.S. Supreme Court, state and local officials, the Jewish religion and the press.

Issue Warrant for Monessen Woman

Monessen police today issued a warrant for the arrest of Hannah Thomas Davis, of 1134 Schoonmaker Ave, on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Mrs. Davis, police allege, was involved in a cutting scrape with Lillian Gravitte, of 1202 Schoonmaker Ave., over the weekend on Schoonmaker Ave. near 12th St. The latter suffered knife wounds of the left arm and was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge after receiving medical treatment.

Call Convict In Probe Of Union

WASHINGTON (UP) A convict temporarily paroled from his New York jail cell appears for questioning before the Senate Rackets Committee today.

He is Max Chester, former union official and friend of the notorious Johnny Dio. Chester, convicted of conspiring with employers, was slated to appear before the investigating committee this afternoon.

The committee arranged for him to be paroled from jail long enough to answer questions—if he will. He will be put back behind bars as soon as he finishes his testimony.

The committee's goal in questioning Chester — and others to come—is to trace the "bouncing charter" of one of Dio's New York union locals.

Committee Chairman John L McClellan (D-Ark.) said meanwhile that organized labor would suffer "great injury" if James R. Hoffa succeeds to the presidency of the AFL-CIO Teamsters Union and then fails to clean up the union. He said the union "needs a clean-up."

Linked with Dio

Hoffa, Teamster vice president and candidate to succeed Dave Beck as president of the giant union, has been linked with Dio and his New York union activities by the committee.

McClellan, who predicted in advance his committee's current racket hearings would be "stupendous," said labor corruption turned up so far was "greater and more extensive than I anticipated." He expressed belief the Senate should continue the hearings for at least two years, and said there "must be remedial" legislation to restore control of unions to their membership and protect their welfare funds.

Chester was convicted July 25, along with Dio and Samuel Goldstein, an official of a Teamster Union local, of conspiring to get money from employers to insure labor peace.

Pioneer Member Of Aluminum Industry Resigns

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Arthur V. Davis, the only living American who attended the birth of the aluminum industry in 1888, resigned today as board chairman of Aluminum Company of America.

The 90-year-old executive, after 69 years service in almost every chapter of aluminum development, said he was quitting to devote full time "to other business interests, centering chiefly in Florida."

A native of Sharon, Mass., he joined the Pittsburgh Reduction Co., forerunner of what was to become the nation's largest aluminum producer, in 1888 shortly after his graduation from Amherst College

He began by opening crates at $60 a month "when I got it," and became assistant to Charles M. Hall, the developer of the electrolytic process for commercially producing aluminum.

Davis assisted Hall on Thanksgiving Day, 1888, when the first commercial aluminum was poured at the firm's experimental plant here.

Fired City Policeman Will Appeal to Court

Attorney Louis L. Manderino, of Monessen, today said he will file an appeal in Westmoreland County Common Pleas Court this week in behalf of ex-Patrolman Philip Panepinto, who was fired from the Monessen police force on July 12 following a hearing before City Council.

Manderino said he will file the appeal tomorrow or Friday.

Panepinto was fired as a patrolman on the recommendation of Mayor Hugo J. Parente. At the hearing before Council, Panepinto was charged with failure to make hourly calls to police headquarters and "sleeping on duty."

The ousted policeman did not deny the first charge entirely. He did, however, deny the "sleeping on duty" accusation, stating he "was not sleeping but relaxing" when seen in a parked taxicab by Lt. Joseph Reday. Panepinto also claimed he "wasn't feeling well" at the time.

U. L. Souply, president of the Monongahela Valley Chapter of the Fraternal Order of Police, today issued a signed statement that the FOP will provide financial assistance for Panepinto in his appeal to be returned to the force. He said the FOP voted "almost unanimously" to assist Panepinto.

Souply's statement said the FOP voted to retain Manderino to represent Panepinto "in prosecuting an appeal to the Court of Common Pleas and overwhelmingly endorsed a proposal to render whatever assistance necessary to VICTORY SMILES AFTER NOMINATION — Attorney David H. Weiss, of Monessen, is all smiles after his selection as the Westmoreland County Democratic Party's third nominee for a common pleas court judgeship in the November general election. Weiss is shown with his wife and Jay Kromer, County Democratic chairman, and Patrick McShane, party secretary. Weiss was nominated in Greensburg Saturday.

Teamsters Threaten to Attack Meany's Leadership of Union

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UP) — A special meeting of the AFL-CIO Building Trades Department opened here today with the threat of a Teamster attack directed by Teamster Crown Prince James R. Hoffa against AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Labor sources viewed the expected attack on the prestige and leadership of Meany as a "power-play" by Hoffa, vice president of the strong Teamsters Union who is currently campaigning for Dave Beck's presidency.

Hoffa, one of five Teamster delegates, will appeal to the old AFL building trades leaders to join his union's revolt against Meany's program to end jurisdictional disputes between the building trades unions and the industrial unions.

The agreement was drawn up by a committee of building trade and industrial union leaders with Meany acting as chairman. It provides that new construction work should be done by the craft-type building unions while production and maintenance jobs should fall to unions organized on plant-wide terms. Roving peace teams would settle disputes on the spot.

Expect Resolution

The drive to discredit Meany's efforts was expected to come in the form of a resolution prepared by the Teamster Building Council in Detroit—Hoffa's stronghold.

The Teamsters contend the agreement favors industrial unions Their resolution supports the AFL-CIO merger but adds:

"We are not prepared to pay the high price tag that the ultimate product apparently now carries.

"We are not going to voluntarily urge our memberships to commit job suicide without a clear understanding on jurisdiction with those contesting for this self-same jurisdiction patently within our traditional rights," the proposed resolution says.

The Teamsters are expected to

Israel Exposes Plot to Blow Up Russian Embassy

TEL AVIV, Israel (UP) — Israel's security chief has accused Israeli terrorists of planning to blow up the Russian embassy here in an attempt to drag the United States into a war with the Soviet Union, it was disclosed today.

The security chief, whose name is not allowed to be published, revealed the plot in court testimony designed to forbid bail for Yaacov Heruti, who is accused of being the central operator of the terrorist organization

According to the witness, the group planned to attack the Russian embassy in hopes it would retaliate with an attack on Israel The United States then was to come to the aid of Israel. He said the terrorist assumed Israel would benefit from such a war.

The witness also said the gang planned to assassinate British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd and Eric Johnston, President Eisenhower's special envoy to the Middle East.

He explained that the gang put nothing down on paper for fear of discovery and that Heruti was an important cog in the communications setup and that without him the group could not act effectively.

Cool Air Mass Drops Mercury

A mass of cool air moved into the district early yesterday morning bringing with it scattered showers.

The mercury hit a weekend high of 96 on Saturday at noon.

Yesterday the weather station at the Donora Zinc Works reported five separate shower periods. As a result the mercury dipped to 60 degrees by 7 a. m. today.

The temperature at noon had climbed to 68, the Zinc Works weather station reported.

Sunny, breezy and pleasant temperatures were forecast for the rest of the day. Tuesday will be sunny and a little warmer with the mercury expected to reach 75 to 82.

Answer Alarm

Belle Vernon and North Belle Vernon fire departments were summoned to a fire at the home of Joseph orbett at 128 Elks Place in Pricedale about noon today.

The motor in an electric dryer caught fire. The fire was confined to the machine.

Skeltons Return Home After Rap In British Press

NEW YORK (UP)—Comedian Red Skelton and his leukemia stricken son returned to New York today from Europe. Skelton vigorously denied that the trip was made for publicity as charged by several British newspapers.

With his arm around his boy, 9-year-old Richard, who said he was "feeling fine," Skelton said he bore no malice against the English people for their press attacks.

The TV and movie star left Britain suddenly Sunday night with his son, wife and 13-year-old daughter Valentina. They had been in Scotland and had planned to spend several days in Dublin, but decided instead to return to America.

A sharply critical editorial in the London Epress Sunday criticized Skelton for presenting Richard as a "sickening display" of "slickly run receptions and publicity handouts."

"Take the boy home, Mr. Skelton," the newspaper said.

Postpone Latest Nuclear Test

LAS VGAS, Nev. (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission early today postponed for at least 24 hours firing of its nominal yield" Stokes" nuclear device from a balloon 1,500 feet above the Nevada Proving Grounds.

Scientists said surface winds were too strong to launch the helium-filled balloon that carries the nuclear device. The test was rescheduled for 5:25 a.m., p.d.t. on Tuesday.

Slight Damage In City Accident

Two cars were involved in an auto accident early yesterday morning, in downtown Monessen, police reported today.

The drivers were Charles Kozik, of 1061 Graham Ave., Monessen, and Harrison Cotter, of Morgantown, W. Va. Slight damage resulted.

Files Claim in District Mishap

A claim for $160.62 has been filed in Washington County Court by Donald M. Dears, of Addison, as a result of an auto accident on Oct 24, 1956 in Monongahela.

Named as the defendant is T. W Arthman, 428 Chess St.

Ladies of the Italian Mutual Aid meet at Check's 7:30 p. m. tomorrow to pay respects to member, Mrs. Teresa Vizza. All members are requested to be present.

City Attorney Is Selected as Judge Nominee

Westmoreland County's Democratic courthouse political machine Saturday gave the party's nomination for a common pleas judgeship to David H. Weiss, of Monessen, an assistant district attorney.

In doing so, it shoved aside four other candidates and finally had to crush the fifth and last opponent.

The nomination was made at a meeting of the executive committee of the party's county committee in the Penn Albert Hotel, Greensburg.

Weiss won on the fifth ballot, receiving 89 votes to 35 for Joseph M. Loughran, a former assistant D A. whose independent candidacy was beaten by the courthouse machine in the April primary.

The other four candidates withdrew before the final ballot was taken. They were: Paul W. Mahady, of Latrobe; James L McWherter, of Derry; John K. Best, of Jeannette, and Vincent Williams, of Greensburg.

The executive committee consists of the Democratic chairmen and vice chairmen of the county's 63 municipal sub-divisions A large number of the members are county and state payrollers.

Weiss to 'Do Best'

Weiss, who celebrated his 52nd birthday Saturday, accepted the nomination with a short speech. He said he will "do my best to bring victory in the general election in November."

The nomination completes the Democratic judicial ticket for the November election. The other two candidates for judge are Judge Edward G. Bauer and District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco, who were nominated by the party's voters in April.

The third vacancy occurred upon the death of Judge George H. McWherter, who died too late for the nomination to be made at the primary election.

The Republicans nominated Robert H. Rial and Avra N. Pershing Jr. for the two regular vacancies. In June the GOP County Committee nominated Willis E. Topper for the McWherter vacancy.

In November the names of all six candidates will appear on the ballots with the voters to choose three. The county has four common pleas judgeships.

Saturday's meeting of the Democratic executive committee drew a 100 per cent turnout although many members were represented by proxies. At least 64 votes were needed to win.

The voting started with all six of the candidates on the first ballot Weiss received 38 on the first ballot; Loughran, 27; Mahady, 30; Best, 15; McWherter, 15, and Williams, one.

Before voting started on the second ballot, Best, another assistant D A., withdrew in favor of Weiss, and Williams withdrew without comment.

Increases Vote

Weiss' vote went up to 49 on the second ballot, while Mahady polled 37, Loughran 33, and McWherter 7 McWherter withdrew after this ballot in favor of Weiss

The third ballot saw Weiss' total climb to 53. Mahady kept at 37 while Loughran picked up one for a total of 34.

On the fourth ballot, Weiss polled 61, Mahady 34 and Lough-

Plan for 39th Annual State Legion Convention

HARRISBURG (UP)—The vanguard of an expected 35,000 persons converged on Pennsylvania's capital city today for weeklong activities in conjunction with the 39th annual state convention of the American Legion and its affiliated groups.

Although the Legion convention will not get underway until Thursday, the program was kicked off Sunday night by a public concert in Harrisburg's Reservoir Park by the band of Harrisburg Post 27.

The "40 and 8 Society," the Legion's fun-making unit will begin its meetings Tuesday, with its "funster" parade through central city streets scheduled for Aug. 9.

Gov. George M. Leader and Mayor Nolan F Ziegler of Harrisburg will welcome the delegates at the opening of the Legion convention Thursday in the Zembo Mosque. The auxiliary session will be held in the Forum of the State Education Building.

Speakers during the remainder of the sessions will include Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman and U. S. Sen. Edward Martin (R-Pa.)

A highlight of the convention program will be the drum and bugle corps contest for more than $10,000 in prizes Aug. 9 at the Central Dauphin Joint High School stadium. In the event of rain the competition will be held in the state Farm Show arena.

The traditional Legion parade will be held Saturday.

Leader Breaks Denture, Date

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader returned to his desk at the state capitol today after a two-week vacation which he termed wonderful"

Leader broke a dental bridge while en route to Ambridge Sunday and was forced to cancell his American Slovak outing at the Ambridge Firemen's Park. The denture cracked while the governor was munching on a Brazil nut.

The incident occurred about 20 miles west of Midway on the Pennsylvania Turnpike. He turned back to Harrisburg immediately to have his dentist repair the damage.

Peter Wambach, public relations director for the state Department of Justice, continued to Ambridge where he delivered the govrnor's speech before about 5,000 persons.

Monessen Woman Files Damage Suit

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Mrs. Annie E. Smith, Monessen, today filed a $2,500 damage suit against the owners of a Monessen apartment building for injuries she suffered when a porch railing broke.

Mrs. Smith and her husband, Ray, charged in the suit that she leaned against a porch railing in a first floor apartment they rented from Joseph and Sadie Samuels, both of Monessen, and the railing broke causing her to fall six to 10 feet to a concrete pavement.

The suit said Mrs. Smith sustained permanent injuries of the legs, arms and head, after the fall Aug. 21, 1955.

Homestead Man Held in Shooting

HOMESTEAD, Pa. (UP)—William Diggs, 24, West Homestead, was reported in critical condition today at Homestead Hospital from a gunshot wound inflicted by a man he did not know.

Homestead police said they are holding Allen Crutchfield, 56, also of West Homestead. Police said Crutchfield admitted shooting Diggs early Sunday morning but gave no reason for it.

Crutchfield, according to police, said he had never seen Diggs before the shooting.

Gus Brickner Awaits Chance at Channel

CALAIS, France (Special to The Daily Independent) — Gus Brickner, 45-year old Charleroi steelworker, was hoping for a break in the weather today so that he might begin his attempted swim across the English Channel.

Brickner wanted to start his attempt across the choppy Channel last Friday at midnight. However a sudden wind storm whipped up five foot high waves at that time, forcing a postponement.

A team of Channel observers from France and England will determine just when Brickner's attempt will begin. They check closely with weather officials before okaying any Channel attempts.

Favorable tides will make the Channel calm for the next couple of days if the winds subside.

Brickner, obviously agitated by the delay, is raring to go.

"I never could wait on anything," he said. "This is really annoying."

Gus wants to be the first Pennsylvanian ever to swim across the Channel.

Experts feel the odds are against him. He is older than most swimmers who attempt the choppy grind.

Then, too, four swimmers fail for every one that makes the trip across to Dover, England More often than not, sudden wind storms halt the Channel attempts.

Sen. Walter F. George

Nation Mourns Death of Senator Walter George

VIENNA, Ga. (UP) — The nation's leaders today joined friends and neighbors of former Sen. Walter F. George in mourning the death of a small-town lawyer who mounted the forums of world statesmanship.

President Eisenhower said the Georgia Democrat, hailed for his bipartisanship in U.S. foreign affairs, "served his country and the free world for many years with distinction and integrity."

George headed the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at the pinnacle of his 34-year Senate career and afterward became the President's representative to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

George, 79, died at his home here early Sunday after a six-week struggle with heart disease which last June ended his active role in his new international career.

Burial Today

The body was to lie in state until about an hour before the funeral services late this afternoon in the First Baptist Church, where George had worshipped most of his life.

Town officials were advised that about two-score members of Congress would attend, including members of the Senate Foreign Relations and Finance committees, which George at one time headed.

Eisenhower designated Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and a former Senate colleague of George's, to represent the White House at the funeral services.

The President also sent a personal telegram of sympathy on behalf of himself and Mrs. Eisenhower to George's widow, known in Washington and in Vienna as "Miss Lucy," and to members of her family.

Eisenhower said George's death "is a great loss not only to his own native state of Georgia but also to the entire nation." He added that he suffered "a personal loss" because George "was a good and dear friend."

Ike Wants Stronger CR Bill

Dissatisfied By Senate Version

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower is seeking a civil rights compromise that at the very minimum limits jury trials to voting rights cases, authoritative quarters indicated today.

Highly placed administration sources said there is "no doubt" the President would veto the civil rights bill the Senate is set to pass this week.

With voting on amendments ended, the Senate put the rights bill aside today to work on other business. A vote to pass it was expected possibly Tuesday or Wednesday.

The administration is pinning its hopes on a Senate-House conference committee to beef up the Senate bill enough to make it acceptable. Many Democrats supporting the Senate version hope the House will approve it "as is" and send it to the White House.

Called Inadequate

The Senate measure provides for (1) a bipartisan commission to investigate violations of voting rights; (2) a new assistant attorney general to handle civil rights cases in the Justice Department; (3) power for the attorney general to seek federal court injunctions to prevent threats to Negroes' voting rights; (4) trial by jury for criminal contempt, but not civil contempt, arising out of violation of injunctions under this or other federal laws; (5) elimination of a present barrier to service by Negroes on some Southern juries; and (6) repeal of an old law permitting use of troops to enforce Negro rights.

Highest councils in the President's official family, chiefly the Justice Department, called the Senate version "woefully inadequate" and unacceptable.

They centered their fire on the bill's provision for jury trials in criminal contempt cases. This covers not only the measure's own voting rights section but all other criminal contempt cases brought by the federal government.

Fear Chaos

The sources said this would cause chaos in the federal courts by interfering with cases arising under a long list of statutes including labor cases, antitrust violations, federal trade commission matters and others.

Eisenhower was described by one source as having "really gotton his dander up" over Senate changes and determined to make a strong fight for strengthening the bill in a Senate-House conference.

Jordan Angered By Syria

AMMAN, Jordan (UP) — The Jordanian government was expected today to demand the withdrawal of Syrian Charge d'Affaires Ahmad Rahbi for his part in the crisis in Syrian-Jordanian relations.

The crisis exploded when Damascus Radio broadcast a Syrian communique saying Jordan had threatened to sever diplomatic relations and to resort to armed intervention" if Syria did not halt its press campaigns against Jordan.

Syria called it an ultimatum."

Authoritative sources in Amman said Jordan will never be the first in any case to take action in respect to cutting off diplomatic relations with Syria or resorting to armed intervention."

It was understood the Syrian reply to the Jordan warning would be delivered to Foreign Minister Samir Rifai today by the Syrian charge d'affaires.

Tension Receded

Diplomatic circles in Damascus said the tension had receded following the denial but that the crisis was not yet over. Informed sources there said the Arab League Council may be called in to try to end the state of tension.

(Abdel Khalik Hassouna, secretary general of the Arab League, called on Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi and the Syrian ambassador Sunday to discuss the crisis. The league charter stipulates that the council must be called if a crisis arises between member states.)

Observe Bombing

HIROSHIMA, Japan (UP)—Hiroshima plans to observe the 13th anniversary of the atom bomb Tuesday with a prayer for world peace. Prince Mikasa, younger brother of Emperor Hirohito, will join 30,000 residents in memorial services for the first victims of the atomic age.

American Overseas Forces May Be Cut Following Investigation

WASHINGTON (UP) — A top-secret investigation by a special presidential mission may result in a cutback in U. S. military might overseas, according to high administration officials.

Officials said the special mission, which was set up to look into operations of American bases and troops overseas, was headed by Frank G. Nash, former assistant secretary of defense for international affairs.

The Nash mission report may lead to a reduction in the number of American servicemen stationed abroad, the elimination of some minor bases, and an acreage cutback at other overseas bases.

Nash said his on-the-spot check is now complete and he is ready to write a report.

Nash was given the assignment by President Eisenhower on the recommendation of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, but there has never been any official announcement of the Nash mission's existence.

Officials told the United Press the Nash investigation was well under way when the anti-American riots broke out in Formosa last May and that Nash was in Taipei then.

Experts said the administration is faced with a two-pronged problem.

Steps should be taken soon to improve relations with allies and troops, they said, but the problem is how to accomplish this without impairing American-Allied defense strength at key global trouble spots.

ask the building trades department to advise Meany that construction unions do not intend to become "sacrificial lambs" because of the labor merger.

In this, they are expected to have a good talking point at the meeting, called as a preliminary to the entire grades union department meeting in Miami this December.

Many building grade unionists have tried to block merger of state AFL and CIO bodies until jurisdictional disputes are settled and have voiced opposition to Meany's policy of merger first, settlement later.

However, the building trades leaders may resent the attempt by the 1,500,000 member trucking union to lead them on a major policy matter. Of the three million union members in the construction trades only about 35,000 are Teamsters.

Panepinto

Panepinto in his attempt to regain his position on the Monessen Police Force.

However, Monessen Police Chief Michael Kuvinka, who is treasurer of the GOP, said he will not sign any checks for Panepinto's appeal until "I am certain he is eligible."

Kuvinka, who initiated the charges against Panepinto, voted against the FOP's motion to lend financial assistance. He claims that chapter rules state that a member must attend at least six meetings a year to qualify as a member of good standing and receive any of the group's benefit.

Kuvinka questions Panepinto's eligibility. Panepinto, on the other hand, claims he is a member of good standing.

Souply said today that he will read the minutes of previous meetings to check Kuvinka's claims.

Souply also stated that a "distress committee" of three men has been appointed to determine the best manner of raising money for Panepinto's appeal.

Panepinto's dismissal as a policeman has political overtones. He, along with several other members of the Police Department, opposed Parente in the recent Democratic primary.

Panepinto, 41, had been a 10-year veteran on the force.

State Busy on Highway Building

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Highways Department today announced it awarded contracts totaling $116,687,803 for 323 miles of road and bridge construction in the last seven months.

The department said the seven-month total topped the entire 1956 conract awards by $16,656,670.

New Volcano May Be Forming

MEXICO CITY (UP)—Geologists today investigated reports that the birth of a new volcano caused six earthquakes in the Pacific Ocean off Guerrero state Sunday.

Fourteen scientists flew to Acapulco and headed for Chautipa to check reports that new gases are flowing from water springs in the mountain area.

The temblors brought to 140 the number of earth shocks recorded since a major tremor caused severe damage and death in Mexico City last week.

Weiss Is Judge Nominee

ran 29. Mahady then conceded to Weiss.

It was no contest on the final ballot as Weiss beat Loughran by 54 votes.

It took nearly five hours to make the selection. The meeting opened shortly after 2 p. m. in charge of Jay Kromer, Democratic chairman and a county commissioner, and Patrick McShane, secretary. The final vote was announced at 7 p. m.

Following the opening roll call, McShane announced that nominating speeches would be limited to five minutes. However, none of the speeches lasted more than three minutes. Weiss was nominated by Regis Keegan, Democratic vice chairman of Scottdale.

He called Weiss "a man with all the necessary qualifications".

"He is well grounded in law, having been an attorney the past 25 years," Keegan said. "He is a fearless Democrat."

Although party leaders had kept up appearances of an "open" contest, it was apparent Saturday before the meeting started that Weiss was the machine's choice.

Chief Detective Arthur B. "Buddy" Turner, the recognized boss of the machine, gave the final nod of approval.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente, of Monessen, another power in the county organization, had been in Weiss' corner from the beginning.

Turner was operating in the corridors outside the meeting room Saturday but Parente was in Los Angeles, Cal., on vacation, another indication that the nomination was in the bag for Weiss.

Turner and Parente do not always agree politically, but when they do, they can make things happen in Westmoreland County.

While the actual voting was done in the main meeting room, the real decisions were made in the corridors and several private suites engaged by candidates and party leaders.

Free food and liquor were in abundance at most of the suites.

The heavy work which gave the nomination to Weiss was done in a suite presided over by Judge John M. O'Connell. Both Best and McWherter quit the contest immediately after emerging from the O'Connell suite.

The clincher was provided by Tom Tannas, Arnold city clerk, who is a nationally known prize fight manager and slot machine figure.

Tannas, a close personal and political associate of Mayor Parente, had been backing Mahady through the fourth ballot. But then, after a flurry of conferences in corridors and private rooms, Tannas advised Mahady to drop out. That in effect gave the nomination to Weiss.

Weiss' acceptance speech was very brief. The victor was noticeably tired when the final vote was announced.

"I want to thank all my loyal supporters who gave me the best birthday present I could receive," Weiss said. "I will do my best to bring victory in the general election in November."

With that, Weiss invited his supporters to a "victory celebration" at the Ben Gross restaurant on the Lincoln Highway near Irwin.

Weiss is believed to be the first Monessen resident to be nominated for a judgeship in the history of Westmoreland County.

Married and the father of three children, Y. Rochelle, 16; Janis Rae, 10, and Jay Brody, six, he lives in Seneca Heights.

He is a graduate of Monessen High School, the University of Michigan and the University of Pittsburgh law school.

Active in Democratic politics for over 20 years, Weiss is presently drawn no fewer than five salaries from public bodies, all controlled by Democrats.

Besides being an assistant district attorney, he is solicitor for the City of Monessen, the Monessen School District, the Rostraver Township School District and the Rostraver Township Supervisors.

Previously he had served several terms in the state House of Representatives and was a school director in Monessen.

Representing Monessen on the executive committee were Andrew Kritsky, head of the county assessment office, who was proxy for William Rapsack, local Democratic chairman, and Mrs. Olga Contine Lahey, vice chairman. Both were Weiss supporters.

GETTING READY FOR FLU EPIDEMIC — Vaccine production is being rushed by six manufacturers to combat Asiatic influenza which threatens the United States with an epidemic this fall or winter. Here, laboratory worker Evelyn Starkey at Eli Libby Company plant in Greenfield, Ind., sets up eggs for inoculation with live virus, the first step in the production of vaccine to fight the expected epidemic.

Congress Set for Battle Over Tax on 'Night-Clubbing'

WASHINGTON (UP) — Congressmen lined up for a wet-vs-dry fight today over whether to cut the federal tax on night-clubbing.

The House called up for a vote a bill to reduce by half the 20 per cent tax on food and drink charged in cabarets providing entertainment or live music.

The outcome was in doubt. Sponsors of the measure, hoping for quick action before Congress adjourns, bypassed the rules committee and brought the bill up under a procedure requiring a two-thirds majority for passage.

Outnumbered congressmen from "dry areas' thus had a chance to whip up enough support to block the measure. A similar bill passed the House several years ago but died in the Senate. There was little chance the Senate would get around to the measure before next year.

The musicians union has been spearheading the drive for the legislation outside Congress, claiming it cuts down on night club attendance. Prohibitionists who believe that liquor should be taxed as heavily as possible have fought it.

They got an assist from the Treasury Department, which doesn't want to lose the additional tax revenues.

Other congressional news:

Adjournment: Congressmen looked hopefully forward to adjourning before the end of the month. With some qualifying "ifs" Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland and others talked about ending the session about Aug. 24.

Porter: Rep. Charles R. Porter (D-Ore.) said he would like to see Dominican strongman Rafael Trujillo dumped by a revolution. But Porter said he would play no part in such a revolution. The Oregon Democrat said he has evidence that "would stand up in court" that the Dominican leader was behind the disappearance and alleged murders of Jesus Galindez, a Columbia University lecturer, and Oregon pilot Lester Murphy.

Russian Date: Rep. John E. Moss said a large amount of Soviet scientific and technical data collected by the government is not getting into the hands of American science and industry. Moss said his government operations subcommittee on information plans to investigate the matter. He said Russia for the past four years has undertaken a vast program to translate American technical data and put it to use.

Defense: Chairman George E. Mahon (D-Tex.) of the House military appropriations subcommittee has called on President Eisenhower to "knock a lot of heads together" at the Pentagon to end interservice rivalry. Mahon said the quarreling between the services "has gotten so far out of bounds that it is a danger to the country." He urged the President to take steps to unify the armed forces.

Offers Boost for New Ceylon Envoy

WASHINGTON (UP) — Maxwell H. Gluck, controversial new U.S. envoy to Ceylon, has been given an important endorsement from the Ceylonese ambassador to the United States.

Gluck's appointment sparked a controversy after he flunked a Senate quiz on Ceylonese matters, including the name of Ceylon's prime minister. Ceylon newspapers have been calling for him to turn down the assignment.

But Ambassador R.S.S. Gunawardene said a two-hour visit Saturday with Gluck, who has been boning up on his new job, left him "very favorably impressed."

"He certainly knew the name of the prime minister," Gunawardene said, "although he found it difficult to pronounce it correctly."

The prime minister's name—Solomon Bandaranaike — according to the Ceylonese embassy is pronounced ban-dar-a-nye-ka.

Suspend Another Pittsburgh Cop

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Patrolman Robert Krah, blamed for the escape of a prisoner Saturday night, was suspended from the Pittsburgh police force today.

The suspension was imposed by Inspector William J. Walsh. It resulted from the escape of Henry R. Jefferson, 18, who jumped out of a police wagon while en route from the Hill District station to Morals Court.

Jefferson, alone in the back seat forced open the door and jumped to freedom. Krah, Walsh said, should have been seated in the rear of the wagon with Jefferson in accordance with an order issued a year ago.

Police regulations allow a 10-day suspension without recourse to a trial board. Supt. James Slusser said he would confer with Safety Director Louis Rosenberg and Walsh regarding Krah's penalty.

In the past three weeks, five men have been dismissed from the force for conduct unbecoming an officer.

Flood Kills 115 In South Korea

SEOUL, Korea (UP) — Floods caused by the heaviest rains in 30 years killed at least 115 persons in South Korea, national police headquarters said today. It said 37 others were missing and 51 injured.

Police said 9,243 houses were destroyed or flooded and more than 45,000 persons homeless. They reported nearly 100,000 acres of farmland washed away or damaged.

The torrential rain started Friday night after a month of heavy, but intermittent, rain. It stopped Sunday afternoon and railway operations were restored to partial operation.

The government dispatched relief teams to the Pusan area which was reported to have suffered the heaviest damage and loss of life.

Ike Still 'Strongly For' Budget Reforms

WASHINGTON (UP) — The White House today called for a transcript of congressional testimony by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson in which he opposed a budgetary reform supported by President Eisenhower.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the Chief Executive still was "strongly for" the legislation. Under it the government would switch to an "accrual" form of financing from the "carry-over" system. The change was recommended by the Hoover Commission.

Hagerty, pending arrival of Wilson's transcript at the White House, said he did not believe that Wilson, in his critical comments to the House Appropriations Committee, was talking about the basic legislation, but was referring to "partial financing" of the Air Force which would result from the proposed new budget method.

Still Favors Bill

"I think you will find that there was a misinterpretation," Hagerty said. "We are for the bill and we have not changed our position. We are strongly for the bill. The President is on record and the President has so informed the Defense Department."

The defense secretary said the change, by hampering long-range planning and spending on defense programs, could "risk the security of the nation."

Wilson said the Pentagon's money situation is so tight at present that if the reform were put into effect now "we really would be in trouble."

Possible Security Risk

It would "cause one of those big shifts in the military program which have been so expensive in the past and waste so much money and possibly risk the security of the nation," he said.

Wilson assailed the proposal, which has been unanimously approved by the Senate, in testimony before a House Appropriations subcommittee. A record of the hearings was made public Sunday night.

Wilson cited the Pentagon's present fiscal problems as evidence that the system wouldn't work. The Defense Department on July 1 had a carryover of billions of dollars of unspent funds. Thus, even though Congress cut more than 2 billion dollars from the new funds requested by the administration, the Defense Department all told has billions more than the 38 billion dollars actually budgeted for spending this fiscal year.

Gorilla Observes 30th Birthday

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Bamboo may not be as peppy as he used to be, but photographers who showed up for his 30th birthday party today wore their rain coats as usual.

Bamboo is the Philadelphia Zoo's venerable gorilla.

As is usual on his birthday he is given what Zoo Curator Roger Conant calls "forbidden fruit" — watermelons, cantaloupes, and tomatoes. Bamboo usually throws them at photographers.

But today, with the weight of years turning his hair gray, Bamboo merely tossed a cantaloupe at the photographers while he ate a watermelon.

One of Bamboo's staunchest fans Miss Marguerite Meyer of 41 Meehan Ave., Philadelphia, showed up as she had for many years with a birthday basket of oranges and bananas.

Pilgrimage of Greek Catholics To Start Aug. 27

The 23rd annual pilgrimage of Greek Rite Catholics to Mt. Macrina near Uniontown is only a few weeks away, but plans are already being made for a big Silver Jubilee in 1959.

In recent years the pilgrimages, sponsored by the Sisters of St. Basil in devotion to Our Lady of Perpetual Help, have attracted more than 100,000 worshippers.

The Sisters hope to have a new Motherhouse ready for the Silver Jubilee celebration. More than 150 nuns are now quartered on Mt. Macrina, the former estate of coal baron Josiah V. Thompson.

This year's pilgrimage will begin on Aug. 27 with solemn vespers on the Vigil of the Feast of the Assumption.

The program will continue through Labor Day, climaxed by a visit from Bishop Nicholas T. Elko, ex-arch of the Byzantine Slavonic Rite, Diocese of Pittsburgh, and his auxiliary bishop, the Most Rev. Stephen J. Kocisko.

Since the pilgrimages were first originated in 1933, more than a million Greek Rite Catholics from all over the country have made the trip to Uniontown.

Up to the Members

MEMBERS of the Teamsters Union may have a lot to say in the next few months about the kind of labor organizations we will have in the United States in the future. For unless there is a change in the course which teamster leaders have set for the organization it is likely Congress will see the necessity for new rules to govern the conduct of all unions.

The investigations of the Senate select committee on unfair labor-management practices have already shown that there is no law at present which will effectively prevent the ravishing of the public interest or the ravishing of unions themselves by leaders who are so inclined. Since these power-prone rascals can act outside the law with impunity it remains for the union members themselves to see that leadership does not fall into the hands of such men.

James R. Hoffa, heir apparent of the discredited Dave Beck as president of the teamsters, has already shown himself bent on scaling the heights of personal glory, even if it means trampling on the union or the United States along the way.

Hoffa is set to challenge, or to bolt if necessary, the parent AFL-CIO rather than make the Teamsters Union subject to discipline for offenses against the corrupt practices code which labor is developing to cleanse its own house.

On top of this Hoffa now proposes an amalgamation of all transport unions so that the entire country can be throttled at will to meet the demands that brigands think up. "You can't have a one-city strike any more," Hoffa moans, "or a strike in just one kind of transportation. You have to strike them all." At least no one can say we haven't had plenty of warning.

Whether Hoffa is elected president of the Teamsters Union is the business of the teamsters of course. If he is, however, and if he practices what he preaches, then the Teamsters Union, the largest and most powerful in the country, will very likely pull down the pillars of the house of labor. Every card-carrying teamster should resolve not to allow himself or his union to be the instrument in such a tragedy.

Political Police

TROUBLES which beset the police bureau of Pittsburgh are those resulting from that old practice of considering the police function in a community an arm of a political organization. Five city policemen have been sacked recently for a variety of offenses; while trials, hearings, and charges of dereliction of duty have been the daily fare of Pittsburghers for several weeks.

Some of the activities of the policemen make bizarre reading, and the citizens can hardly be blamed for wondering what goes on. One gets the impression also that it's a little difficult for the policemen themselves to know just when they are expected to be officers and gentlemen and just when some other conduct will satisfy.

At times, apparently, it is all right to fraternize with the underworld; at other times the policeman is well advised not to recognize the guys. The cop is supposed to be on his toes while the "heat" is on, but at other times anything goes.

As is common in developments of this kind there are indications in Pittsburgh that underlings may take the brunt of penalties while those in ultimate authority are allowed to shrug their responsibility.

In any police force where political usefulness is a qualification for service and promotion there is low level police performance. For sooner or later in such organizations what is right for the community is not "smart" politically. Almost invariably in those cases the community gets the short end of the deal.

How It Hurts

THE FULL import of a three-mill increase in realty taxes for the Monessen School District did not get through to some of the citizens until the treasurer put bills into the mail last week. This was to be expected perhaps, and it indicates one of the frailties of the system under which we function.

While the financial difficulties of the school district were thoroughly aired, and the budget was adequately displayed before its adoption, and although the public had ample opportunity to put before the directors recommendations, comments, criticism or objection, we dare say the directors experienced very little response on this significant matter.

We do not know that a public clamor would have dissuaded the directors from their decision, for there are some things which just cannot be done on the basis of popularity. We do feel, however, that any conscientious director would want as great an expression of public will as possible in helping him to formulate a judgment on a public matter.

Anyone who has observed public affairs over a period of time knows how difficult it is to stir the citizen's interest in many of the matters which affect his welfare. It's a tried and tested maxim, however, that there is one sure way to interest him in economy — just raise his taxes.

Merry-Go-Round—

Hoffa Shot Works to Get Self Freed

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The public doesn't yet know the half of what Jimmy Hoffa and teamster cohorts did to make sure he was acquitted in his recent bribery trial.

This column can now reveal that Hoffa's Michigan attorney, George S. Fitzgerald, Democratic politician and former candidate for lieutenant governor of Michigan, reached all the way to Hot Springs, Ark., to hire Q. Byrum Hurst, an Arkansas state Senator, as one of the battery of Hoffa defense attorneys. This was in addition to reaching all the way to Los Angeles to hire a special Negro attorney, Mrs. Martha M. Jefferson, whose arrival in Washington was acclaimed by the Negro press.

Mr. Pearson

There was a very good reason for hiring state Senator Q. Byrum Hurst. He is a boyhood friend of A. D. Shelton, City Attorney of Hot Springs, who, in turn, is the brother of the U. S. District Judge who presided over the Hoffa trial, Burnita Shelton Matthews.

Reached on the telephone in Hot Springs, Shelton was quite frank.

"I've known Hurst since he was 15 years old. He's state Senator and I am City Attorney. We voted for each other."

"Didn't he talk to you about the Hoffa case?" Shelton was asked.

"Yes, he talked to me about it."

"Isn't it true that you talked to your sister about the case?"

"I would rather not make any comment."

"Isn't it true you came to Washington during the trial?"

"Yes, I came in May."

"Didn't you see your sister then?"

"Yes."

"Didn't you see your sister about the case at that time?"

"I would rather not comment."

It was also learned that state Senator Q. Byrum Hurst came to Washington at about the same time and remained in Washington to work on the Hoffa case.

Hoffa's retention of the state Senator from Arkansas was in addition to his arrangement with ex-heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis to come to Washington from Chicago and appear in the courtroom two days; also in addition to a highly prejudiced and inflammatory full-page ad signed by a fictitious name, which ran in The Afro-American at the height of the Hoffa trial. The ad was obviously aimed to influence the eight Negro members of the jury.

Mr. Sam Checks

Speaker Sam Rayburn, who didn't lift a finger to pass the school bill, is all set to pass the natural gas bill which will raise gas rates by $800,000,000 just as the nation is getting more and more worried about inflation.

Sam kept the bill bottled in the Rules Committee until the oil-and-gas lobby completed a secret nose-count of Congressmen. Oilmen from back home were assigned to find out how each doubtful Congressman would vote and reported that the gas bill will pass the House with 18 votes to spare. Not till then did Mr. Sam give the signal to let the bill out of the Rules Committee.

Sam has done some great things for the USA in his many years in Congress, but historians will point out that lining up with U. S. Steel to give the nation another boost of inflation will not be one of them.

No Friend Of Utilities

Rural Electrification Administrator David Hamil doesn't know it yet, but he will be fired by President Eisenhower shortly after Congress adjourns this summer.

Hamil, who is from Colorado, has been in office less than a year but has been far too liberal for the private utility boys who now swing such powerful influence in Washington. Hamil has been strong for the rural electric co-ops. He publicly opposed hiking of interest rates just as President Eisenhower was getting ready to ask Congress to authorize such increases. As a result, Hamil will get the ax.

The new REA Administrator will be Miles Horst of Pennsylvania, who is for the private utilities and against the rural electric co-ops.

Washington Pipeline

Neil Tolman, lobbyist for Phillips Petroleum, and the man who exerts the most influence with Senators Bridges and Cotton when it comes to the natural gas bill, has been up in New Hampshire, out of Washington. Wonder what effect that will have on New Hampshire gas votes?

Stop-Go Policy on Monopoly

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The Eisenhower Administration is proud, bordering on the boastful, of its record of energetically enforcing the anti-trust laws.

The President aims to keep it that way.

This is why the White House, if my information is correct, is pained and dismayed by the recent decision of the Federal Maritime Board protecting what the Matson Navigation Company's would-be competitors call its "near-perfect monopoly" of the shipping business between the West Coast and Hawaii.

Mr. Drummond

It is embarrassing to any Administration when two arms of the executive branch are found fighting opposite battles — the battle of the Justice Department to combat monopoly and, in the Matson-Pacific Far East Lines case at least, the battle of the Maritime Board to protect monopoly.

Certainly the objective and the effect of Attorney General Herbert Brownell's vigorous application of the anti-trust laws are to increase competition.

Certainly the effect, whatever the objective, of the Maritime Board decision in the Matson-PFEL case, is to prevent competition.

It is the kind of schism in policy which frustrates any President and which cannot fail to be especially galling to Mr. Eisenhower who has given the green-light to his Justice Department to use the law to nourish competitive enterprise at every opportunity, not to dry it up.

Pertinent Facts

This schism stems from the Matson-PFEL decision and here are the pertinent facts:

The Pacific Far East Lines, Inc., which operates a subsidized line to Japan, Korea, the Philippines and Hong Kong, and a non-subsidized service to Guam and Japan, asked the Federal Maritime Board for permission to stop at Hawaii three times a month on its non-subsidized run. The hearings took a year and a half and at their end the Board's examiner recommended:

"The Board should find that the granting of PFEL's application will not result in unfair competition to any person, firm or corporation operating exclusively in the coastwise or intercoastal service or be prejudicial to the objects and policy of the act. Accordingly, the application should be granted."

The public counsel of the Maritime Board concurred and ruled: "The proposed service of PFEL will be consistent with the objects and policy of the act, and will not result in unfair competition to Matson."

Whereupon the Board itself voted 2-to-1 to guard the Matson Line's run to Hawaii from competition. The majority opinion held that Matson's favored position should be protected on the ground that it was a domestic unsubsidized operator engaged in coastwise trade. But the judgment of the Board's examiner on this point was that both companies were on the same footing.

I am not assuming to judge the legal merits of the Maritime Board's action. Its legality and validity now are before the Federal District Court at the instance of PFEL's attorneys.

But the consequence of the Board's action, which aids monopoly, is clearly at variance with the Administration's avowed purpose of curtailing monopoly as in the Dupont-General Motors case, the Eastman Kodak case, and many others.

It is true that the Maritime Board is a quasi-independent agency whose actions the President cannot directly influence, but the White House is involved and to a degree responsible for the Board's policies in light of the fact that it now is wholly made up of Mr. Eisenhower's appointees.

On the basic issue I am reminded of a paragraph which comes from the pen of Bernard Baruch in his forthcoming autobiography. It reads: "In time the government forced the break-up of the Tobacco Trust despite Duke's bitter opposition. I happened to meet Duke some years later. 'As hard as I fought the dissolution of the Tobacco Trust,' he told me, 'I'd fight even harder any effort to put it back together again. We made more money after we were broken up and had competition.'

Out of the Files

Thirty Years Ago—

Friday, Aug. 5, 1927

A joint meeting of the commissioners will be held this week to hear objections to the proposed erection of a bridge between Fayette City and Allenport. Objections are being filed by a ferry company which operates there. The residents of Fayette City claim that the bridge is a necessity if the town is to grow.

Alice Stephens entertained last evening at her home on Reed Ave. for her guest, Betty Jean Smith, of Vandergrift.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Williams and family of Reed Ave. have left for a two-week trip through the northern states.

Twenty Years Ago

Thursday, August 5, 1937

The Junior Auxiliary of the Belle Vernon Woman's Club is planning a mid-summer Fashion show to be held Aug. 12, at the Charleroi Elks Club.

"Smilin' Through" will be presented this evening on the lawn of the Latta Stone House at Roscoe, by the Roscoe WPA players, under the direction of Mary Margaret Chester.

A free band concert will be given Sunday evening at the City Park by the Belle Vernon Band.

Ten Years Ago—

Tuesday, August 5, 1947

A 100-degree temperature scorched the nation today, and the weather man would promise no relief today, but possibly cooler weather for tomorrow.

Tired and angry residents of Seneca St. and East Donner Ave. yesterday afternoon were still working to restore their homes to habitable condition following one of the worst flash floods ever to hit the City. They were angry because they believe the City is at fault for failing to take steps to prevent the waters from engulfing them a second time within five years.

The Cynic's Corner—

"That should show the government we're concerned about the high cost of living . . . Now if we can get a group of housewives to march on Washington . . . !"

Arms Race Showdown In Next Few Weeks

By DONALD J. GONZALES

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' mission to London produced a historic agreement among the Western Allies but no assurance that the world is nearer the elusive goal of security from atomic carnage.

The London talks still face the same big disagreements between Russia and the West on arms limitations, inspection machinery and nuclear test suspension.

The showdown in the 11-year-search for an end to the arms race may come in four to six weeks, officials here believe.

Two more weeks will be required by U.S. disarmament negotiator Harold E. Stassen to complete presentation of the complex U.S. - Western "first step" disarmament plan. He still has proposals to make on details of international inspection and controls, on reduction of conventional weapons and on freezing the world's stockpiles of nuclear weapons.

Expect Study Recess

After that, Western officials expect a recess of two to four weeks while Russia studies the package plan and drafts its reply.

The crucial sessions will probably come in middle or late September.

Before then, however, Moscow may have indicated clearly—in official statements or controlled press and radio comments — whether there is any hope of agreement.

Official American optimism has turned increasingly cautious lately, as recent statements by Soviet Communist Leader Nikita Khrushchev and disarmament negotiator Valerian Zorin offered no hint of compromise.

In his London conference with Zorin, Dulles also stuck firmly to the Western position rejecting Soviet demands for a suspension of atomic tests without reference to a freeze on nuclear weapons production or other security guarantees.

If Russia agrees in principle to the package plan idea hopes will soar again. But "agreement in principle" is more easily won than a signed and sealed, self - enforcing pact with Russia.

Russia wants inspection control machinery placed under the U.N. Security Council, subject to Soviet veto. The Western Allies want a veto - free corps of truly independent air and ground inspectors.

Asks Nuclear Ban

Russia demands destruction of nuclear weapons and a ban on nuclear warfare. The West says there is no sure method of detecting hordes of fissionable materials or atomic bomb stockpiles, so any such agreement would be undependable.

Washington assumes that atomic armed nations will use their weapons in war, regardless of paper promises to the contrary.

If Russia accepts one of the two revolutionary "open skies" plans offered by Dulles in behalf of the Western Allies at London Friday, many complicated details will remain to be worked out.

A special task force under direction of retired Gen. James H. (Jimmy) Doolittle has been working on plans which would minimize the loopholes and pitfalls in the international inspection proposal.

Point by point, every U.S. and Western idea must be cross-checked and negotiated among the Allies before presentation at the London sessions.

American officials concede the pace is slow. But they say it is also remarkably fast, considering the complexity and importance of the issues. The worl's future could be decided by a recklessly written line of fine print.

The Lighter Side—

Ike Is American; His Talk Gives Him Away

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK, (UP)—A certain man who lives in a goldfish bowl called the White House and whose initials are D.D.E. is about as American as you can get.

The way I can tell is by the way he talks.

If the person who takes down the transcript of the presidential news conferences heard aright—and there is no reason to believe otherwise — one part of the President's answer to a question about how to stop smoking cigarettes was simon-pure Americanese.

He said: 'I really believe if a person turns their mind to something else and quits pitying themselves about it, they won't find it nearly as hard to quit smoking as they think it is."

Now, if a Britisher got that particular collocation of words squirted at him all at once, he could be excused for puzzling over just how many people were involved here—or what kind of a pluralistic person this is who "quits pitying themselves."

Grange Against The Grain

To an American, it is a perfectly natural thing to spew a staggering procession of singulars and plurals into a sentence. It's not only natural, it's practically mandatory.

The only American with audacity enough to throw himself against the tide is Red Grange who broad casts football games. Apparently deciding to go all-out for plurality, Grange went through the entire 1956 football season uttering such logical english as "Notre Dame have the ball on their own 40-year line."

Although this is in line with such common British usage as "Her Majesty's government have decided such-and-such", the howl that went up from Grange's American audience was, to invent an adjective, terrific. It's doubtful that he'll be able to fight it out on the plural verb line again this fall.

The great Danish authority on the English language, Otto Jespersen, once wrote that a particularly beauty of the language was that you could take your choice of saying either "the jury has rendered its verdict" or "the jury have rendered their verdict."

Americans Make Discovery

He said nothing about 'mixing 'em up, and maybe he just didn't have the vision, or possibly the taste. It remained for the Americans to discover the beauty of "the jury has rendered their verdict."

I don't want to seem wistful about this, but since we've got this far with the language, why can't we go a step farther and bring back the double negative? It could be done if the President one day would take the bull by the horns and say something like:

"Don't never let me see you go and do no such thing no more."

He would be talking, naturally, to Congress. And he would be on very firm ground—with the language, that is. Consider, please, Chaucer's knight who "never yet no villany he sayde, in all his lyf, unto no manner wight." That's four negatives, by my count.

And that's the way the language went, until some British fuddy-duddies began cutting the guts out of it by imitating Latin usage. Let the White House speak out. We'll lick them fuddy-duddies yet.

The Woman's View—

The Raccoon Coat Is Back

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—The newest fashion for coeds is as old as the flappper, the Stutz Bearcat and the Charleston.

Yes, the raccoon coat is back. In some cases, it is available second hand and in "magnificent disrepair," as advertised by one New York specialty shop. But mostly, it is new raccoon copied after those worn 30 years ago or else shortened to car coat length.

Revival of the long-haired fur in coats and accessories is just part of fashion's return to the Roaring 20's for ideas especially for the campus and young career girl group.

The "so's your old man" era also is reflected in new cloche hats, shorter skirts, fringed and beaded dresses, and lowered waistlines. Even Christian Dior last week in Paris dropped the waist to the hipbone, a la the flapper.

Three-Length Types

The vintage raccoons, which the specialty shop bought from a private collection, retailed for $25 each. The new ones will cost $150 and up. One New York shop featured three lengths of racoon—the shortest, actually a jacket length; another, 32 inches or car coat style; the third, to mid-Calif.

Most of the new old-timers have rolled collars. Others have adjustable hoods and bright plaid linings.

Raccoon also abounds in accessories and trim. One college shop used the fur for huge, pouch bags and hats, and as cuffs for wool knit gloves. One red leather car coat has a raccoon collar. Another store even included raccoon scuffs, or lounge slippers, in its collection of be-furred accessories.

Trims Suits With Raccoon

Designer Jeanne Campell of Sportswhirl trimmed two - piece tweed suits with raccoon collars. Goldworm Sportswear used th fur for collars of its two - piece knits.

Here are other trends in coed fashions for fall:

Red in all shades is a leading color in everything from shirts to suits. Other color leaders are black, olive green, gold and beige.

Jackets mainly are short and semi-fitted, some of them piped and suggestive of the loose jacket made famous by Chanel of Paris.

Girl Scouts Make Washington Trip

Highlighting the summer season for 54 Girl Scouts of the Monessen-Belle Vernon Council area is a trip to Washington, D. C., started at noon today. Two buses provided transportation to the nation's capital, and the party left West Newton at noon.

The girls were accompanied by 17 adults, leaders and committee members. They will set up living quarters at Camp Rockwood near Bethesda, Md., a national Girl Scout Camp.

Camp Facilities

The camp is located 15 miles from Washington. It is a 68 acre site operated by the Camp Division of Girl Scouts of America. Tents, dormatories and cabins provide the camp site for the visitors. The other buildings on the site offer facilities for different types of activity. Here the girls will have the opportunity to make friends with Girl Scouts from all over the country.

Tour Planned

Along with the camping program the girls will take part in a tour of the capital. They will visit the Capitol building, White House, Washington Monument, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Lincoln Memorial, see the changing of the guard at Arlington Cemetery, Marine Memorial and Smithsonian Institute.

A camp fire will be conducted at Rockwood on Tuesday, and the girls will return to West Newton at 7 p. m. Wednesday evening.

The trip was originally arranged as a West Newton troop project by Mrs. Davene McKelvey, of West Newton, who is in charge of the entire trip. Later girls from Fellsburg and Monessen were invited to participate.

Adults Accompany

Adults who will accompany the girls are Amelia Obley, Alberta Albig, Hazel Seamon, Thelma Smith, Rose Doven, Lois Hudock, Mary Jane Letterio, Ruth Montgomery, Ruth Smith, Margaret Marones, Frances Shink, Sharon Melton Zema, Zera Webster and the Monessen group consisting of Lorna Wuls, Ann Colonna and Janet Hutchison.

Will Organize State Nurse Branch Locally

A meeting was held recently at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital for the purpose of organizing a branch of the Pennsylvania Nurses Association.

Temporary officers named were Mrs. Florence Stacey, president; Ann Gibson, vice president and Mrs. Ada Laird, secretary-treasurer.

Plans were made for a second session to be held in the conference room of the hospital on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. At that time by-laws will be drawn up for the new group.

BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Welch, Fayette City R. D. 1, a daughter, seven pounds, four ounces, Aug. 2, at 12:32 p. m., at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Annual Card Party Planned By Federation

Mrs. Floyd Drummond and Mrs. William T. Darby have been named to serve as co-chairmen of the annual card party to be held by the Washington County Federation of Women's Clubs on Thursday, Aug. 22, at the Charleroi Elks Club.

Mrs. John C. Lynch, president of the Washington County Federation, announced the appointments. Mrs. Drummond is vice president of the Monongahela district of the Washington County Federation and Mrs. Darby is federation vice president.

Mrs. Lynch, Mrs. Darby, Mrs. D. Roy Clyde and all other past presidents of the federation will form the reception committee for the affair which annually attracts a large attendance of district clubwomen.

Light refreshments will be served at one o'clock. After the serving there will be bridge, five hundred, canasta or other card games played.

Fashions from Miller's of Charleroi will be modeled informally throughout the afternoon.

The ticket committee will include Mrs. O. C. Taylor and Miss Nan Cooper, of Monongahela and Mrs. James Liviskie, of Charleroi. Tickets may be obtained from the various club presidents, and there will be a limited number on sale at the door.

Marilyn Milsom, Donald Williams Are Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Milsom, of Pricedale, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Marilyn, to Donald Williams. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Williams of Pricedale.

The bride-elect will be a senior at Rostraver High School this term. Her fiance, a Rostraver graduate, is attending California State Teachers College.

No wedding plans were made known by the couple.

Nuptials Are Announced Here

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Anna Mae Lender to Harry Neal, which took place in the Tabernacle of Faith Chapel at Irwin R. D. 3. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Zavora, Sheridan Terrace, Irwin and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Katherine Neal, of Yukon.

The marriage took place on June 15, at 7:30 p.m. with the Rev. Joseph Holderaum officiating.

Dolores Swanson, of Irwin, was the bride's only attendant. John Overly, of Hunker, was best man.

The new Mrs. Neal was employed at the Westinghouse Mica Plant at Cereal. Her husband is employed at the Hutchinson mine.

Former Area Girl Received At Carmelite Monastery

A group of district people visited the Carmelite Monastery of St. Therese, Lenark Manor, near Allentown, recently to attend the observance of the feast of the Most Blessed Virgin Mary of Mt. Carmel.

The ceremonies were attended by several hundred persons, and were highlighted by the induction of a Carmelite novice into the monastery.

Sister Mary Gemma of the Passion was received into the order by Msgr. Leo G. Fink, of Allentown.

Former Area Girl

Sister Mary Gemma was formerly Gilda Patricia Angelo, R. N., of Donora. Prior to her entrance into the Allentown Carmel, she was a laboratory technician at the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Others participating in the rites were the Rev. Leo Poser of the Lanark Monastery, the Rev. Charles Scherer of the Sacred Heart Church, Allentown; the Carmelite fathers of the Province of St. Elias, New York City and the community of Marianhill fathers from Lanark.

Msgr. Fink delivered the sermon and the Rev. Richard Holzhauser, rector of St. Joseph Church, Limeport, was master of ceremonies.

District People

Attending from Belle Vernon were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Guiliano, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Angelo and daughter, Patti; from Donora, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lazzari and children and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Angelo and daughter.

Pat and Joe Angelo, Mrs. Guiliano and Mrs. Lazzari are brothers and sisters of Sister Mary Gemma.

'Speaking of Beauty'
"HATS OFF TO A MIRACLE"
By James V. Bonafed

Hats off to a miracle . . . the permanent wave! It's one of the many reasons I chose the profession of bringing beauty to women. You come into our salon with hair that's "limp and shaggy" . . . a style that looks tired and old. But what a thrill we all get when you leave our salon a few hours later looking lovelier and self-assured!

-o-

Right now, as I'm writing to you, scientists in professional beauty laboratories throughout the Americas are working on new permanent waving lotions. Testing and re-testing to bring you through us the best there is. More miracles ahead!

-o-

Not so many years ago, a beautician would have been shocked if someone said they could give you a soft, natural looking and lasting permanent wave. We once thought permanents had to look frizzy and un-natural! Today, we can give you a wave so casual and easy to manage, your friends will say "Aren't you lucky to have naturally curly hair!" Now your soft, casual wave has lasting body . . . because we use a waving lotion scientifically right for your hair . . . we "time" the wave till it's "just right".

You can have a tighter curl . . . if you wish! But not with a "frizzy look" . . . and without that "permanent smell". We'll put lively curls all over your head if you like . . . but they'll be smooth and easy to comb. Lovelier by far than old-fashion artificial waves!

-o-

If you have had an unsuccessful permanent somewhere, we can even help correct the damage for you! We have modern formulas made to rebuild elasticity and vitality in mistreated hair . . . and when once it has been restored to health we'll give you the right wave for your hair!

-o-

All scientists aren't working on hydrogen bombs and dehydrated foods. Quite a large number work for your beauty. The products they create come to us. Won't you come to us, too?

Redstone 'Okay' With Greyhound Coach

Supposedly Monessen High voted to bounce Redstone from the Big Six Football Conference during a recent reorganization meeting. That may have been the case, but MHS head coach Armand Niccolai had nothing to do with it. "We have to play Redstone anyway, so why not let them in the Conference," reasoned Niccolai. "This gives Redstone a psychological advantage in our future games. If they aren't good enough for the Conference, then maybe they should be dropped from our schedule, too. Personally I have no objection to playing Redstone even though there have been some minor incidents in the past. I'd rather play a valley team than make some of the long trips ahead of us this year."

Young Chuck Guiffrida shows promise of developing into one of the finest hurlers in the district. During the recent Donora - Brownsville District 7 tilt, Guiffrida and Fred Mazurek of Brownsville fanned a total of 31 batters as Donora won the crown with a 4-0 win. Guiffrida struck out 15 batters, Mazurek went him one better with 16 whiffs. Walks spelled the difference as Mazurek issued seven free tickets to only three for the Donora star . . . Uniontown High School has named a new wrestling coach. He is Henry Campbell, formerly of Phillipsburg (Pa.) High where he turned out top-notch teams.

Gridders Prep for All-Star Clash

Coach Don Mains and his Fayette County All-Star gridders are hard at work at German Township's field for the annual clash with the Washington County stars. Mains is assisted by Lou Rozzi of German and Chuck Slick of Brownsville. The Washington County squad is working out on the Wash High field, where the game will be played on August 15 — just two weeks away! . . . Jeannette's Dick Williams may get an assistant coaching job at North Carolina U under Jim Tatum. If Williams gets the post he'll be the third coach from that district on the NC staff as George Barclay of Har-Brack has been named assistant mentor and Bud Carson, of Freeport, freshman tutor. Barclay was once head coach at North Carolina.

Mt. Lebanon High School was recently crowned the champion of the Western Football Conference, newly formed grid loop which completed its first season in 1956 with Washington, Baldwin, Trinity and the Mounties as members . . . Charleroi High School wants its stadium vacated by August 12 to prepare for the coming grid season which means the Charleroi Merchants will have to move to the new Veteran's Memorial Field in the Recreation plot, if that field is ready. The playoffs in the MVL will start around August 12 . . . Realizing their need for southpaw hurling the Pittsburgh Pirates are nursing a crop of lefties at several minor league clubs.

Four Ozark Pitchers Start Game

The Monessen Ozarks had four pitchers in their starting lineup against West Newton Thursday night, Bill Mitnick was on first, Fuzzy Anderson was doing the hurling, Jim Smith patrolled right field and Myron Sepitko played second. All turned in creditable performances . . . Two new sportswriters have taken over posts at valley newspapers, Harry Rosenburg at Donora and Terry Eisenberg at Monongahela, replacing this writer. Rosenburg succeeds Bill Lambert, who now has a position with an Eastern Pennsylvania newspaper . . . The controvresial Dick Stuart, of the Buc farm system, is still causing many "rhubarbs" with his managers, but will, nevertheless, probably hit 66 homers again this season. He now has 37 with three different clubs. He's currently back with Lincoln, Nebraska, where he starred last season.

Baseball Headed for Finest Period--Harridge

Editor'S NOTE: During Oscar Fraley's vacation, his column will be written by leading sports figures.

By WILL HARRIDGE
President of the American League
Written for United Press

CHICAGO (UP)—These are the times of baseball's greatest problems — and their certain solution. I believe, will result in the game's finest period of prosperity and popularity.

Looking back on the past decade, one should realize that with the pressures of expansion and franchise moves, the problems of television and of increased traffic and its accompanying parking difficulties, baseball in that decade registered attendance gains which were unforeseen 20 years ago. In my opinion, with more boys playing the game now under good coaching and supervision, baseball is heading for an even greater period of success and prosperity.

Sets Attendance Record

In the season of 1945, with the effect of wartime service calls being felt by every club, the American League recorded a season attendance of 5,580,000—an all-time league record. Every club owner was gratified with that record turnstile figure — but I doubt if an executive believed it portended what was to come. For by the 1945 season the American League registered a season total of 11,150,099 paid admissions, a figure which is the major league seasonn mark.

For the past eight years the league has drawn a total of 68,772,672 paid admissions—an eight year season average of 8,596,584.

In addition, the major leagues' All-Star game is securely established as a high point of mid-season interest, and the national and world-wide interest in each fall's World Series has made possible a player pension plan which has made finer than ever the relations between players and management.

Further Expansion Certain

The tremendous development of amateur baseball will continue to aid the professional game.

For more than a half century, the American League club lineup was unchanged. Then, in 1954 and 1955, Baltimore and Kansas City became new members of the circuit and under fine leadership are certain to add strength to our league, for those clubs are headed for men dedicated to bringing the best major league ball to their cities. Further expansion of professional ball is certain to come, and that expansion, I feel, will be a part of baseball's finest era — the next decade.

Twin-bills In CSL This Week

Monessen's City Softball League will present a twin-bill tonight for the first time this season.

ULBA goes against the Myfords entry for the game beginning at 5:30 o'clock. The second game showing MPSA against the Ravens will begin immediately following the first clash.

Each game looms as important now as the league goes into the stretch drive and only the Cro-Ams have a play-off berth sewed up, at this time.

The Cro-Ams are rolling along with first place in their hip pocket" leaving the other playoff positions up for grabs" among the remainder of the contenders.

Note — This protested game will start at 6:00, and will start from the point of protest in the 5th inning. The regularly scheduled game will follow immediately after the protested game is completed.

Boudreau Seen On Way Out at KC; Selkirk 'In'

NEW YORK (UP)—Unless the last-place Kansas City Athletics do a complete about - face within the next eight days, Lou Boudreau will be let out as manager and George Selkirk probably will replace him, the United Press learned today on excellent authority.

Boudreau faces the eight - day deadline because the Kansas City front office feels something drastic has to be done before the A's come off the road and return home, Aug. 13.

Boudreau, whose contract still has another year to go, will be offered a job in the Kansas City front office, according to the source. As a matter of fact, he may be offered the same post with the Athletics Selkirk now holds—director of player personnel —so that the two men actually would be trading jobs.

Selkirk, the former New York Yankee outfielder, won a pennant with Kansas City in 1952 when the club was still in the American Association, and still is a tremendously popular figure in that city.

Arnold Johnson, the owner of the Athletics, is "extremely disappointed" at the club's recent showing, according to the United Press source.

If Boudreau is released by Kansas City, he will be the third pilot deposed this year.

The Washington Senators named Cookie Lavagetto to succeed Chuck Dressen, May 7, and Danny Murtaugh replaced Bobby Bragan as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates last Saturday.

Murtaugh Will See Donora Tilt

Donora and Munhall PONY League All-Star teams will battle at Palmer Park, Donora tonight at 6 o'clock with the new manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates Danny Murtaugh on hand to witness the encounter.

Murtaugh's son, Tiramy, is a member of the Munhall team, winners of District 8.

Donora, District 7 champion, advanced to the regional playoffs on the strong arm of Chuck Guiffrida, one of the most promising hurlers to come out of Donora in quite some time.

Regional winners will advance to World Series play at Washington, Pa. later in the month.

Sandy Amoroso Out

BROOKLYN (UP) — Outfielder Sandy Amoros will be lost to the Brooklyn Dodgers for "at least five days" because of a pulled muscle in his left thigh suffered while running the bases in a game at Milwaukee Saturday.

Mon-Youghs Bumped From Prep Playoffs

The Mon-Yough Prep League All-Stars were eliminated from the Prep World Series play at Munhall Saturday by the Washington entry.

The South Hills team won the Prep League State championship Saturday and will face Butler tonight at 8 p. m. in the first round of the World Series here at West Field.

South Hills defeated Butler Saturday, 5 to 4, in a tense, nine-inning contest to win the State title.

Butler came back Saturday night to eliminate Washington, 6 to 23, to become state runnerup. Washington, earlier in the evening, had defeated Mon Yough, 4 to 3.

Fred Bolden pitched Washington's victory over the Mon-Yough in the semi-final losers bracket contest. The locals scored twice in the first and twice in the fourth in registering the win. Bill Tracey hurled for the M-Y entry.

Two earlier games are scheduled in the opening of the World Series tonight. Charleston, W. Va., meets Waltham, Mass., at 2 p. m., and Wilmette, Ill., faces Rome, Ga., at 6 p. m., with the South Hills-Butler clash to follow at 8 p. m.

Markley Barnes of Jeannette, will be head coach of the West Penn team, composed of players from outside the County, Rab Currie, of Charleroi and Dave Ullom of Midway will assist Milanovich, with Pete Diaey of Centerville and Bill Ciccone of Bessemer aiding Barnes.

Monessen's Carl Crawley will play for the West Penn squad.

Fifth World Auto Title for Juan Fangio

NUERBURGRING, Germany (UP)—Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina, who clinched his fifth world auto racing championship by winning the Grand Prix of Germany, today declined to comment on reports he is ready to retire from the sport.

It had been reported earlier that the Argentine speed king would quit as a professional driver if he won the world title again this year.

Fangio drove his Maserati at average speed of 89.312 miles an hour in winning the Grand Prix of Germany. He took over the lead on the 21st lap of the 22-lap, 313.6-mile race.

Britain's Mike Hawthorne and Peter Collins finished second and third, respectively, while Harry Schell, an American living in Paris, wound up seventh. Fifteen of the 24 starters finished the race.

World Record

AMSTERDAM, Holland (UP) — Ada Den Haan of Holland set a world record for the 200 - meter women's breaststroke when she was clocked in 2:51.3 seconds Sunday in the Dutch national championships.

Monessen Dollar Days Are Coming

Jim Baker Singles Champion

Jim Baker today owned the men's singles title in the Monessen Recreation Department Tennis Tourney, co-sponsored by Post 28, American Legion.

Baker took top honors yesterday with a 6-3, 6-4 win over Joe Kurey in the title match. Kurey had defeated Buzzy Zilko Saturday, 6-4, 3-6, 6-0, to advance to the title round.

Doubles play will open tonight at 6 o'clock with the following matches carded: Thompson-Szypansky vs. D'Alessio-D'Angelo and Kurey-Musial vs. Chomko-Amprim. Another match at 7 o'clock shows Selelyo-Manetti team against the Howski-Yezerinac duo.

Tomorrow night two matches are set for 6 o'clock showing the Thompson-Syzpanski vs. D'Alessio-D'Angelo match vs winners of the Kurey-Musial vs. Chomko, Amprim match.

Post 28 will award trophies to winners of all eight classifications in the tournament.

City Playground Tourneys Begin

Tournament play began at all playgrounds in the city today, under the supervision of Special Events Director Frederic Feldman and recreation department instructors.

Tournaments will be held in table tennis, box hockey, basketball, and jacks. Two divisions of play are set for each event.

The finalists in each division except basketball will meet at City Park on August 14, at the Recreation picnic, to compete for the City Championship. Awards will be given all winners by the Monessen merchants.

Basketball finals will be held at the Civic Center gym.

Wednesday Deadline For Knot Hole Trip

This Wednesday afternoon (Aug. 7) at 1 o'clock is the deadline for "signing up" for the Knot Hole Game Thursday between the Pirates and the Phils, Department of Recreation Director Thomas D'Errico announced today.

Consent forms may be obtained from playground supervisors.

The Knothole club is composed of boys and girls between the ages of 9 and 15. Each member is assessed one dollar for transportation costs. Admission to the game is free, courtesy of the Pirate Baseball Club.

Busses will leave from the high school (Knox Ave.) at 11 o'clock Thursday morning.

The trip is sponsored and supervised by the Department of Recreation.

Locals Play Every Top Contender in Mon Valley Loop

This is "do-or-die-week" for the Monessen Ozarks in the Mon Valley Baseball League as the locals roar into the home stretch for what looks like a photo-finish between four teams for the third and fourth playoff berths.

Fayette City and Charleroi apparently have the top two berths clinched but after that its anybody's battle with Perry showing a 21-17 mark, Monessen and New Eagle tied with 20-17 each and Donora with a 19-18 record, in fifth place.

The Ozarks travel to Charleroi tonight to meet the torrid Merchants who have been playing like champions of late. Tomorrow night the Ozarks have a previously tied game with Perry to play off at Perry.

In fact, the Ozarks are busy every night this week but Thursday and may have to play then to decide another deadlock with Perryopolis.

Wednesday night the Ozarks host New Eagle and Friday they are at Fayette City, so the Johnsonmen have their work cut out for them playing the top contenders every night this week and almost having to win them all to keep that fourth place slot.

It's a large order but if the big bats of Pappy Johnson, the Ozark manager, Carl Crawley, Bob Mastracci and Neil Hill continue their terrific pace of the past few games, especially in the homer department, Manager Johnson feels the locals can do it.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Wrong Mental Picture

Many years ago somebody came up with the theory of "hitting against a firm left side." This meant keeping the left side immobile and braced when the clubhead met the ball. Putting this theory into practice has cost thousands of missed shots. How wrong can you get?

When clubhead and ball meet—on all full shots — the left side should still be turning back to the left. The correct position here is by no means a static one. Action is the keynote. Not only is the left side still turning, but the arms and hands should be in the act of moving through and past the ball. That is what hitting through the shot means.

One reason that this hitting against a firm left side business has hung on so long is that it might seem logical at first glance. But it's as wrong as wrong can be! Trying to hit against an immobile and braced left side will short-change you on distance and accuracy both. Never make this mistake!

Argentine Still Pacing Field in Tam O'Shanter

CHICAGO (UP)—Argentine Roberto de Vicenzo moved into the final round of Tam O'Shanter's All American tourney today with a four-stroke lead on the field, but he didn't plan to coast for the final 18 holes.

"I hope a 70 will be good enough to win," he said, "but maybe I'll shoot better than that. And maybe a 72 or 73 would be all right."

De Vicenzo fired a two-under-par 70 Sunday for a 203 total and veteran Sam Snead, White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., became the runner-up with a six-under-par 68 for 207. Paul Harney, Worcester, Mass., was third at 208 on a third-round 72.

Bunched behind the three leaders were Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla.; Bill Casper Jr., Bonita, Calif., and Jimmy Demaret, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., at 210. Art Wall Jr., Pocono Manor, Pa., was at 211, and Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex.; Jack Fleck, Rochester, Mich.; Bob Rosburg, San Francisco, Calif.; Doug Ford, Mahopac, N.Y., and Don Fairfield, Casey, Ill., were at 212.

Jackie Pung, Honolulu, led the woman pros with 226, two under par, with Fay Crocker, Uruguay, and Patty Berg, Chicago, tied for second at 227

Clifford Ann Creed, Opelousas, La., was first in the women amateurs with 241, 13 over par, while Don Cherry, Wichita Falls, Tex., and Howard Everitt, Northfield, N.J., were tied for the lead among the men amateurs at 220, four over par.

Enos Slaughter Continues to Prove He's 'Greatest Pro of All'

By FRED DOWN

Enos Slaughter keeps demonstrating why the New York Yankees' American League rivals rate him "the greatest pro of 'em all."

The 41-year-old, balding Slaughter showed the "young 'uns" how it's done Sunday when he smashed five hits and drove in five runs to lead the Yankees to a 5-2 and 6-5 sweep of the Cleveland Indians. The victories extended the Yankees' winning streak to eight games and their first - place lead to a season's high of 6½ games.

Slaughter, who joined the Yankees a year ago this month, delivered a run-scoring single and a three-run homer inn the opener and capped the performance when he singled in the ninth inning of the nightcap to drive in Yongi Berra with the decisive run.

The Chicago White Sox dropped another half-game off the Yanks' pace despite an 11-6 victory over the Boston Red Sox, the Washington Senators out-homered the Detroit Tigers, 8-4, and the Baltimore Orioles tied the Indians for fourth place with a 5-0 decision over the Kansas City Athletics.

Hold NL Lead

The St. Louis Cardinals split a double-header with the Philadelphia Phillies, winning, 4-1, after a 5-4 defeat, and held first place by a half game after another furious day of activity in the National League. The Milwaukee Braves downed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 9-7, the Cincinnati Redlegs rebounded from a 14-inning, 7-6 loss to whip the New York Giants, 3-2, and the Chicago Cubs ruined Danny Murtaugh's managerial debut with 6-0 and 3-2 wins over the Pittsburgh Pirates in the other NL games.

Whitey Ford struck out seven and allowed six hits to win his seventh game for the Yankees in the opener and Bob Turley also gained his seventh win in the nightcap. The Indians went ahead, 5-4, in the eighth inning when Dick Williams homered but the Yankees tied the score in the ninth on singles by Tony Kubek, Berra and Jerry Lumpe to set the stage for Slaughter.

Larry Doby, Luis Aparicio, Bubba Phillips and Jim Rivera led the White Sox' 19-hit assault with three blows each as Chicago snapped its three - game losing skein. Dick Donovan went the route for his 12th win despite 14 hits, three by Ted Williams, who raised his league-leading average to .389.

Home Run Fest

Pedro Ramos, Milt Bolling, Rocky Bridges and Eddie Yost homered for Washington and Al Kaline, Bill Tuttle and Ray Boone homered for Detroit in a game that set a homer-mark for Griffith Stadium but the big news was that Roy Sievers failed to connect for one. Sievers had homered in six straight games but had only a single in five tries. Ramos won his eighth decision while Frank Lary dropped his 15th game compared to four victories.

Billy Loes pitched his third shutout and 11th win of the season, a five-hitter that handed Kansas City its seventh straight defeat. Loes struck out eight behind a 10-hit attack, including three blows by Willie Miranda.

Lindy McDaniel scattered nine hits for his ninth triumph as the Cardinals gained a split after Larry Jackson walked home the Phillies' decisive run in the 12th inning of the opener. Harry Anderson sent the first game into extra innings with a two-out, ninth-inning homer.

The Braves gained a half game on the Cardinals with a 13-hit offense sparked by homers by Ed Mathews, Del Rice, Johnny Logan and Hank Aaron. Bob Buhl won his 14th game and fourth of the year over the Dodgers although he was knocked out in the eighth inning. Sal Maglie lost his fourth game.

Frank Robinson singled home the winning run for the Redlegs as Vicente Amor gained his first major league victory after a seesaw, 4-hour and 20-minute opener in which Willie Mays hit two homers and a triple. The Giants won the first game, in which 43 players appeared, when Tom Acker walked three men in the 14th inning and Ray Katt came through with a sacrifice fly.

The Cubs, who had swept only one of 20 previous double-headers, dropped the Pirates into last place when they won the opener on Moe Drabowsky's six - hitter and the second game on Jack Littrell's 11th - inning double that scored Jerry Kindall. Drabowsky's shutout was the first of his big league career.

Steelers Open '57 Drills Today

OLEAN, N.Y (UP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers opened training for the 1957 National Football League season today with only three players still unsigned.

The main squad of players arrived at the St. Bonaventure University campus here Sunday but the bus chartered to do the hauling carried only seven players. Most of the players arrived in private automobiles.

Still to sign contracts for the Steelers' 25th season in the NFL were tackle Frank Varrichione, guard Dale Dodrill, who was en route from his Denver home, and tackle Ernie Stautner.

Among those arriving here was fullback Stan Rogel, one of the hardest runners in the league. He signed his contract shortly before driving north.

Two Post Low Gross at NCC

Low Gross honors at Nemacolin Country Club went to Dr. John Krosnoff and Dick Jensen over the weekend.

Club pro Mike Pavella participated in the pro-amateur tourney of the Boldoc Hills Club near Irwin. His best-ball 63 with Don Holtman tied him with Chuck Scally and Sam Sampson for first place, while he had a 64 teamed with Harry Price.

He also shot a 69 to tie with Frank Kirally for low gross.

Wilson Reid had a 564-yard eagle on the number six hole at Nemacolin, the first time this has ever been done.

National AAU Swim Event Sees 'Record-smashing'

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—The National Men's AAU swimming and diving championships at Kelly Pool here went down on the books today as one of the biggest record-smashers in the history of the event

Eight marks were established in the 13 swimming events on the program. They included three American records, an American citizen's mark and a possible world record.

The highlight was the 5:15.6 American record set by 17-year-old Gary Heinrich of San Leandro, Calif., for the 400 - meter individual medley which the AAU is submitting to the International Swimming Federation as a world record.

The 5:15.4 world record for the event claimed by V. Strojanov of Russia was set in 1954 on a shorter, 40-meter course. AAU officials are confident Heinrich's time on the regulation 50 - meter Olympic pool here will be recognized since it had less turns to boost the swimmer's speed.

Frank E. McKinney Jr. of Indianapolis lowered the 100 - meter backstroke meet record to 1:04.7 in a qualifying round and shaved another two seconds off it in winning the final event. He also broke the 200 - meter backstroke American record with a 2:21.7 timing.

Other double-winners were Dick Hanley of Detroit, taking the 200-meter and 100-meter freestyle titles and George Breen of Buffalo, who set a new American mark of 18:17.9 for the 1,500 - meter freestyle and successfully defended his 400-meter freestyle championship.

Yank Netters Sweep Brazil

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UP)—The United States Davis Cup team today looked forward to the match with the Phillipine entry after taking the American Zone championship with a 5-0 sweep over Brazil.

The United States-Phillipine series will probably take place in December. The eventual zonal winner takes on defending Davis Cup champion Australia.

The U.S. squad topped Brazil in both singles matches here Sunday to complete their sweep. The double win made little difference as the United States had already clinched the title with two singles victories Friday followed by a doubles win Saturday.

Russian Sets Mark

LONDON (UP)—Vladimir Sapunov, a Soviet marksman, set a world record when he scored 389 points out of a possible 400 in the 50-meter small-bore rifle standing shooting event, it was reported by Radio Peiping.

Scott-Linder Feud Comes to Head at Arden

The fued between Dick Linder and Herb Scott will come to a head tomorrow night at Washington Raceway.

Scott, who won the Pittsburgh Racing Association championship last season and Linder, who won in 1955, have been battling neck and neck for the title this season with Scott now ahead.

These two rivals will pick teams from the PRA drivers Tuesday night and battle on a team basis from the first heat race through the 25-lap feature of the nine-race program.

Aside from trying to help their particular buddy — whether it's Scott or Linder — the drivers will be trying for the extra $250 team prize in addition to the regular purse when the first heat race gets underway at 8:30 p. m.

The team battle will be repeated at each of the PRA tracks: Heidelberg, Thursday night; South Park, Saturday night and Claridge, Sunday night. All start at 8:30 p. m.

Lynch-Russo in Eight-rounder

NEW YORK (UP) — Welterweights Eddie Lynch and Danny Russo are slated for only eight rounds on TV tonight at St. Nicholas Arena, but the background noise will sound like the battle of the century.

Pigeons will fly, bugles blow, firecrackers explode, feet stamp and mouths yell as ex - soldier Lynch of New York matches leather with young Russo of Brooklyn in an old-fashioned interborough brawl.

Most of the demonstrators will be with Lynch, the 7-5 favorite. As he fought his way up through the four - rounders and six-rounders, 22-year-old Eddie has been rooted home in 11 of 12 bouts by Pandemonium, Inc. He lost but one fight, and scored but one kayo.

Prep League Series Opens

MUNHALL, Pa. (UP) — The 1957 Prep League World Series begins at West Field here today with defending champion Waltham Mass., meeting Charleston, W. Va. in the opener.

In a twi - night doubleheader, Rome, Ga., meets Wilmette, Ill., and Butler, Pa., goes against South Hills, Pa.

Waltham won the title last year on the same field. The 1956 runner-up, Hagerstown, Md., was eliminated by Charleston in district competition.

Pirates Ruin Murtaugh's Debut As Manager, Drop to Cellar

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pittsburgh Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh looked back on his first day as a major league pilot today to find his team holding up seven other clubs in the National League.

The Pirates were dumped into last place Sunday with a double-loss to the Cubs at Chicago, 6-0 and 3-2 in 11 innings.

Debut Ruined

The defeats ruined Murtaugh's managerial debut and enabled the Cubs to leave the cellar for the first time since July 7. They are now .008 percentage points ahead of the Pirates, who have lost their last eight games. Murtaugh replaced Bobby Bragan as manager in a surprise move Saturday.

The Pirates returned here today to prepare for a night game against the Philadelphia Phils on Tuesday.

Moe Drabowsky pitched his first major league shutout in the opening game Sunday, while pinch-hitter Jack Littrell doubled home Jerry Kindall to break a 2-2 tie with two outs in the bottom of the 11th to win the second.

Game-winning Blow

Littrell got his game-winning blow off Luis Arroyo, who took his 10th loss. It was the only extra base hit of the game and scored Kindall, who had reached base on a fielder's choice.

Dave Hillman, last of four Chicago pitchers, was credited with the victory. He worked the last two innings, giving up only a single.

Bob Friend suffered his 14th loss in the first game. He yielded two runs on fourth-inning doubles to Bobby Adams and Walt Moryn before he was knocked out in a three-run sixth. Bob Speake got the key blow with a pinch double.

Flo Chadwick Sets New Mark

WESTON-SUPER-MARE, England (UP) — American distance swimmin Florence Chadwick bucked dense fields of seaweed and swam around a menacing oil tanker today to beat a 24-year-old record by swimming the Bristol Channel in six hours, seven minutes.

The veteran San Diego, Calif., swimmer left here at 8 p.m. (4 p.m. e.d.t.) Sunday and arrived at Penarth, Wales, at 2:22 a.m. today to top the old mark of 7:50 set by British chanel swimmer E.H. Temme in 1933.

Bragan Gets New Auto Despite Move

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Bobby Bragan, sacked Saturday by his bosses as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is still going to get a vote of confidence from the fans.

A new convertible to have been presented at Forbes Field on Friday night will be given to Bragan, after all. The presentation will be made Tuesday at the Chartiers Country Club.

"There's no reason to give me the car," Bragan objected. "All it shows is that the Dodge people have confidence in me."

Mower Exercise

STOCKTON, Calif. (UP)—Amos Alonzo Stagg, the dean of America's football coaches, will be 95 years old this month—but he still keeps busy. When a Mid-Western company recently sent him a power lawn mower, Stagg shipped it back without even taking it out of the crate. He explained that he got his exercise pushing his old-style mower.

MVCC Wins Becoming Habit with Ed Betus

MONONGAHELA, Aug. 5 — It's getting to be routine for Ed Betus to win top honors at Monongahela Valley Country Club. He did it again this past weekend.

Betus fired 34-34—68 on Saturday and came back with 37-35—72 yesterday to take low gross honors for the weekend at Monongahela Country Club.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name *Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Raps Queen's English

LONDON (UP) — Commoners, bluebloods and British newspapers blasted 33 - year - old Lord Altrincham today for criticizing the Queen's English. Two peers suggested he be "shot."

The words "God save our queen" were smeared in three-foot-high letters on the wall of Altrincham's ancestral home and the word "our" was underlined heavily.

Lord Altrincham touched off the squabble when he said in a magazine article last week that the Queen's speaking style "is frankly a pain in the neck."

Furthermore, he said, it gives her the personality "of a priggish schoolgirl, captain of a hockey team (or) a recent candidate for confirmation."

He added new fuel to the fire Sunday when he swung his broadsword at the Queen's entourage and said "many of the courtiers are a second-rate lot, lacking gumption and imagination."

The Earl of Strathmore, a cousin of the Queen, was one of the first to strike back.

"If I had a gun I would shoot this Altrincham myself," he said.

A similar comment came from the Duke of Argyll, hereditary master of the queen's household.

"The man who wrote it ought to be shot," he said.

Newspapers throughout Europe commented that Altrincham's criticism was not polite. They said he had hit below the belt because the Queen could not possibly reply —it wouldn't be dignified.

There are an estimated 20 thousand species of birds found in the world.

Hollywood Stars Stand By in Confidential Case

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Scores of leading movie stars were on two-hour call today to play what might turn out to be the most crucial roles of their careers in the criminal libel trial of two West Coast representatives of Confidential Magazine.

The trial of Fred and Marjorie Meade, operators of Hollywood Research Inc., opened Friday in Superior Court. Selection of a jury was expected to be completed today.

Some 100 movieland personalities have been subpenaed to give "defense testimony" at the trial. The reluctant potential witnesses were subject to a two-hour call that can tear them away from the movie lots into a jam - packed courtroom to testify if stories printed about them in the so called scandal magazines were "true."

Gary Cooper, Corinne Calvet, Rory Calhoun, Lana Turner and Sonny Tufts head the cast of stars subpenaed for what could turn out to be the most sensational trial in movieland history.

Ten Year Old Boy May Face Murder Charge

BRAINERD, Minn. (UP)—A 10-year-old boy today faced a possible murder charge after confessing he killed his father in a plot backed by his two brothers.

The boy, Ira Rollins Aamodt, told authorities he stalked his father in a dense woods and carried out his part of the plot by shooting him in the back.

"He was always hitting and kicking us," the boy said.

Ira's confession apparently ended a nine-day search for the slayer of Ole Aamodt, 57, who was found face down in a thicket near his northern Minnesota farm on July 27.

Sheriff Roy Wickland said Ira, his brother Billy, 13, and stepbrother Richard, 15, were questioned immediately after the discovery of Aamodt's body. After further questioning Ira broke down late Saturday and confessed.

"I couldn't do anything to suit him," the slight, fair-haired boy said.

Wickland said the three boys signed confessions in the presence of their mother, who resolved to stand by them. The boys, Wickland said, admitted they made plans to "do away" with their father following a series of beatings.

Betty Patterson, Sallie Lutz in Charge of Class

The Mary Brown Class of Rehoboth Church met Wednesday in the church basement. The day was spent mostly quilting. At noon a covered dish dinner was served.

Betty Patterson was devotional leader, opening the meeting with the singing of "What a Friend We Have in Jesus". Scripture reading followed and Margaret Martin offered prayer.

The class topic was "Chaplain Meditation in Story Form". After the poem "My Aim" was read, devotions were closed by singing "Blest Be the Tie That Binds".

Business was conducted by Sallie Lutz, vice-president. Reports were read by Grace Rankins, secretary, and thank you cards were read from Frances Donaldson.

Hazel Zundel will be in charge of the September meeting. Others present were Tillie and Emily Cook, Bertha Colvin, Mattie and Camelia Smith, Mary and Maude Finley, Bertha Gess, Della Stacy, Susan Trickett, Lois Culbert, Bessie Wells, Mary Houseman, Elsie Gaffney and Anna Montgomery.

Cathy Jugan, of Webster, attended the Scotch picnic at Kennywood Park as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Leyda and family, of Webster.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Oliver and daughter, Leslie Ann, of Jackson Heights, N. Y., visited Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Echart and family.

The annual picnic of Webster Methodist Church Sunday School will be held at Monessen City Park on Wednesday.

No Fringe Benefits

CHICAGO (UP) — A retiring "monarch" will present a sure-fire program for "leisure and prosperity" to his organization's annual convention at Britt, Iowa, on Aug. 27. Ben Benson, 72, who steps down this year as king of the hoboes, says the platform will include a 4-hour day, a 4-day week and a 3-month vacation with pay.

Circus to Dogs

DETROIT (UP)—Canine delinquency had authorities worried for a while Sunday. A pack of 15 dogs, part of an act at the Detroit police field day in Briggs Stadium, broke out of their cages, terrorized a 600-pound bear and bit two policemen. They drew 10 days in the dog pound and were ordered to take a rabies test.

Visiting Here

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Jr., of Fresno, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. John McBride and family, of Coeburn, Va., are vacationing with their father and sister, Robert Johnson, Sr., and Isabelle Johnson, of Johnson Ave., Pricedale.

They also plan to visit other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. John Skurkay and daughter, Mary Jo, of Johnson Ave. and Mary Ann Skurkay, of R. D., Belle Vernon, were in Cleveland, Ohio, over the weekend. The Skurkays were accompanied home by another daughter, Patty who had been vacationing in Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. John Turner, and daughter, Pam, spent the weekend at their camp near Emporium.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cornell, of R. D., Belle Vernon, spent the weekend in Ripley, N. Y.

Sandra and Marlene Sheary, of Webster, attended the Scotch picnic at Kennywood Park Saturday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Muir and family, of Finleyville.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Walter Bradica, who died one year ago today, August 5, 1956.
Little did we know that morning,
The sorrow the day would bring,
The end was sudden, the shock severe;
To part with you, father, the one we loved so dear.
We did not know the pain you had,
or hear your final sigh,
We only know that you had left us without a last goodbye.
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
Many a lonely heartache after a lonely tear.
You have passed beyond our love and care,
But not beyond our thoughts and prayer.
When days are dark and friends are few,
Father dear how we long for you.
Sadly missed by wife, Mrs. Josephine Bradica; son, John and daughters, Mrs. Zora Rohar and Mrs. Barbara Chulig.

In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, Peter Migun, who died four years ago today, August 5, 1953.
Gone, dear father, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember,
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a loneliness,
The world can never fill
Sadly missed by daughter, Mrs Michael Kulenic; sons, Michael Migun and Capt. Peter Migun and Families

In loving memory of our dear husband, father and grandfather, Afton Mahalko, who died 12 years ago today, August 5, 1945.
What would we give his hand to clasp,
His patient face to see;
To hear his voice, to see his smile,
As in the days that used to be
But in some sweet day we'll meet again
Beyond the toil and strife
And clasp each other's hand once more,
In Heaven, that happy life.
Sadly missed by wife, Mrs Pearl Mahalko, son, Steve Mahalko and Family

In loving memory of our dear son, daughter-in-law and grandchild, Mr. and Mrs James Pascarella, Jr., and James Michael, who were drowned one year ago today, August 5, 1956
One lonely year has passed away
Since our great sorrow fell,
The shock that we received that day
We still remember well,
Your end was sudden, dear ones,
It made us weep and cry,
But, oh, the saddest part of all
You never said goodbye.
God gave us strength and courage
To carry the blow, what it means to miss you
God will only know.
Sadly missed by Mother, Father, Brothers and Sisters

Paris Fashion Experts Predict Shorter Skirts by Next Spring

By ELMER WALZER

NEW YORK (UP) — Here's a hot piece of stock market news. Paris reports women's skirts almost up to the knees; American fashion experts say they'll be in U. S. A. in modified form by spring.

There are a lot of people on Wall Street who recall vividly that at the best part of the 1929 boom skirts were as short as all get-out.

And these same people will tell you that in 1929, the oldsters of that day recalled how other bull markets were marked by short skirts, perhaps showing a lady's shoes, but short for those days.

Hence the conclusion — short skirts, high markets.

Of course, Wall Street doesn't jump to conclusions.

There may be an economic reason for short skirts. If you've been reading the economic news, you'll recall France has budget troubles and is imposing new nuisance taxes. Higher prices result so the fashion designers use less cloth and there you have short skirts.

Less Cloth

Over here, we've got our inflation — prices up for 10 months straight in the cost of living index. So we too will use less cloth.

A. W. Zelomek, economist and president of International Statistical Bureau, sometimes goes by such an imposing title as economic counselor.

But his economic eyes twinkled as he told of the short skirts en route to our shores. He knows a good thing when he sees it.

"The silhouette," said he, "is more youthful looking. The new fashion is dashing — almost posterlike in silhouette and color. And we anticipate that it will catch on."

Zelomek finds a definite relationship between economic and social conditions and fashion changes. Fashions, he notes, are affected by prices. High living costs, and higher fabric prices, have a definite effect on the amount of fabric used, he adds. Also, he finds a declining marriage rate means a rising hemline.

Zelomek looks for good business in the better stores when the new short-skirt fashions come in. But don't buy the store stocks now, he cautions. "Our indicator," he asserts, "has given a sell signal."

He foresees better times ahead for retail trade generally but the stock buying, when the time comes, must be selective, he adds.

Damage Amounts To $150,000 in Pittsburgh Fire

PITTSBURGH (UP) — A stubborn general alarm fire that raged 4½ hours in a two-story building in the city's crowded North Side section was brought under control early today.

Deputy Fire Chief Joseph Caslin estimated damage at $150,000.

Authorities feared gunpowder stored on the upper floor of the building might explode, and emptied homes in a two-block radius of the burning structure.

A student at the Pennsylvania Gunsmith School, which occupied the second floor with the George R. Thacker Arms Co., told firemen there might be as much as 300 pounds of smokeless rifle powder in the building.

However, firemen and Police Supt. James Slusser fought their way up a smoke - clogged stairway and ladders into the upper floor only to find 10 to 15 pounds of gunpowder. It was removed.

At least a dozen firemen were overcome by smoke and gas and were treated at the scene by resuscitators.

'The Thin Man' Will Make Fall Comeback

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Lassie will have to keep a firm grip on her rating bones — Asta is making a comeback this fall.

Hollywood's favorite mystery-comedy series of all time was MGM's "The Thin Man" series of the '30's, starring Myrna Loy, Bill Powell and a wire-haired fox terrier called Asta with an affinity for hydrants.

MGM is reviving the idea in a TV series beginning Sept. 24 on NBC featuring another Asta and two two-footed actors, Phillisy Kirk and Peter Lawford.

Although "The Thin Man" series is sophisticated mystery-comedy and not a children's show, the makers of the show happily predict Asta will replace Lassie as the most popular four-footed star on the home screens.

An Emmy Candidate?

"I wish they'd give out TV Emmy awards for animals—I'd like to give Lassie a run for his money," says Halleck Driscoll, the new Asta's trainer. "Asta is much more clever than Lassie."

Asta's real name is Native Dancer and, like all canine stars, he has three doubles (including two females). Each dog is dyed to look the same—black saddle and brown ears (the original Asta, now seen on TV in the old movie version, was all white).

The sophisticated, sharp Miss Kirk and Lawford play the smart young married couple, Nora and Nick Charles, who get mixed up with murders. But so far in the scripts Asta's role is as grandiose.

In the first two stories the dog has to bite the villain on the leg, find the all - important clue of a torn handkerchief and discover the victim's body. Asta even is so hot a detective that the heavies kidnap him.

A Big Wardrobe

His wardrobe includes a raincoat and galoshes and a turtleneck sweater. And the dog even has received a fan letter from the original Nora Charles, Myrna Loy. The first day of shooting she sent him a box of milk bone with a note, "Congratulations on your TV debut. Here's a little snack to munch on between scenes."

The TV series will follow the theme of MGM's six "Thin Man" movies, except the Charles' on TV are a younger couple. For home consumption there also are fewer hydrants for Asta and fewer martinis for the Charles'.

The new husband-wife detective team is bearing up well under Asta's scene-stealing.

"I started my movie career with Lassie, and now I'm with another dog," sighed Lawford. "You have to keep working hard in scenes with dogs. I learned long ago—never let them get behind you."

Edgewater Beach Playhouse Back In Swing Again

CHICAGO (UP)—The Edgewater Beach Playhouse is in full swing after three years of labor pains.

The unique summer theater occupies what once was the famous Beachwalk of the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

But it took longer to clear away the legal obstacles and erect the fancy blue and white theater tent than it did to build the big lakefront hotel.

The fact that the theater finally is in operation, featuring such stars as Burgess Meredith and Walter Slezack, is a tribute to the perseverance of the theater group headed by wholesale druggist and civic leader Lou Zahn.

"As late as June 1 it didn't look like we'd be able to open this season," Zahn said.

But the hotel filed suit against the city asking a declaratory judgment to permit construction on its grounds. The court ruled in favor of the project, and the theater was rushed to completion in time for a July 8 opening.

The theater and its swank surroundings are a far cry from some of the straw hat circuit's traditional hayloft operations. As actor Meredith put it, "this certainly beats working in a barn."

Arthur Morse, executive producer and general manager, contends it's the best equipped theater-under-canvas in the country.

Snake in Class

DENVER (UP) — Vandals who broke into the Knapp Elementary School Sunday may hate schools but they appear to love animals. Although they did considerable damage to tables, chairs and bulletin boards, they released two turtles, a frog and three garter snakes from their cases.

Good Health Makes For Safer Driving

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Prevention of the ever increasing toll of motor accident injuries and deaths actually is a public health problem.

It's an indisputable fact that the physical condition of the driver helps to determine, to a great extent, his accident proneness.

A group of industrial physicians made a study of the problem, not long ago. They pointed out that the human element is a major factor in preventing accidents and offered these worthwhile recommendations to improve the situation.

Civilian drivers, up to the age of 45, should be examined every three years; after 45, every two years.

Industrial and transportation drivers should have a pre-placement examination and periodic examination every two years, up to the age of 45, and annually thereafter.

Every driver in industry absent from work for more than 28 days, because of illness or accident, should be examined before returning to work to be sure that he is not a hazard to himself and the public.

The doctors suggest that private or civilian drivers be given complete physical examinations.

They also urge that a copy of this medical record should be sent to the state motor vehicle bureau for a detailed examination. The bureau, they say, should accept or reject a candidate for a driver's license upon his health history.

Commercial vehicles and transportation operators should also be required to submit to a physical examination, the doctors insist. They add that a qualified physician should then certify to the ability of the candidate to perform the job.

These examinations should consist of a history of the individual's health, a physical checkup, psychological testing, visual tests, urine examination, chest x-ray and serology.

I'm not approving or disapproving these suggestions. I'm just passing them along.

Party for Twins On 72nd Birthday

Mrs. Minnie Pocky and her twin sister, Mrs. Kathryn Gaesser, of Buffalo, N. Y., were honored guests at a party held on Thursday evening. The affair marked the observance of their 72nd birthday anniversary.

The party was held at the home of Mrs. William Heath, of Fell St. She is Mrs. Pocky's daughter with whom she resides.

Sharing the honors of the evening was Mrs. Pocky's son, William, of Charleroi, who was also marking his birthday anniversary.

There were 20 relatives and friends present from Speers, Charleroi, Belle Vernon, Monessen and Canonsburg.

The evening was spent informally and concluded with the serving of refreshments along with two large decorated birthday cakes.

The honored guests were presented with many gifts, greetings and flowers.

The Belle Vernon American Legion Post 659 will meet this evening in the Post Home. This is the only business session scheduled for the month of August. The semi-monthly schedule will be resumed in September.

Bellmarette Directors Attend State Conference

A delegation of members from the Bellmarette Joint School Board has returned home from a conference held by the Pennsylvania State School Directors Association for three days at Indiana State Teachers College.

J. E. Kuhn and Gerald Stanley, of the Belle Vernon Board; Clifford Breakwell, of the North Belle Vernon Board and George Hancock and Ben Sarra, of Fayette City were those who attended.

One of the highlights of the meeting was a detailed discussion of the new state laws governing school districts. Act 213 was fully explained. It concerns proper posting of the meeting dates of school boards in order that anyone interested may attend. The meeting information is to be announced through a newspaper widely circulated in the district.

The Bellmarette Joint School Board meets the second Tuesday of each month in the Bellmar High School Library at 8 o'clock. The Belle Vernon School Board meets the first Wednesday of each month at 7:45 in Vernon Junior High School.

Other Meeting Dates

North Belle Vernon meets the second Thursday of each month at 8 o'clock in the Bellmar Library. Washington Township meets the last Monday of each month in the Marion School at 7:30, and Fayette City meets the same evening in the Fayette City Elementary School.

If there is any change in the meeting dates, times or places law provides that public notice is necessary.

The local men were informed that the same law is applicable for any authority or civic board. The Municipal Authority of the Borough of Belle Vernon convenes the third Thursday of each month in the authority office at 112 Main St.

Take Part in Church Pilgrimage

Several members of St. Sebastian R. C. Church joined in the pilgrimage to the shrine of St. Ann de Baupre, which began yesterday morning from the Most Holy Name of Jesus Church of Monessen. The large group of travelers made the trip in three chartered buses.

After attending mass at Holy Name, the group was served breakfast before the journey began. Breakfast was served by the Holy Name Confraternity in the church hall.

Locals women in the party include Mrs. Bruna Tesi, Mrs. Rose Tesi, Mrs. Margaret Lazzari, Mrs. Sestillia Vannucci and Mrs. Julia Nesti.

Holy Name Event Set for Sunday

Members of the Holy Name Society of St. Sebastian Church will receive Holy Communion next Sunday morning at the 9 o'clock mass. The annual "big breakfast" will follow the church rites.

Breakfast will be served at Celapino's and during the program following the guest speaker will be Al DeLuca, St. Vincent College football coach.

The new officers will be assuming their duties, and Clair Brown will be in charge as president.

Mrs. Ross Boston and Mrs. Theresa Zeli attended a meeting of the Westmoreland County March of Dimes workers held in Greensburg, on Thursday. Mrs. Boston has served as North Belle Vernon Dimes chairman for a number of years and is a member of the county executive board.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tedesco, son Michael and daughter, Debbie, have moved from their home on Grant St. In about a month they will occupy their newly constructed home on Kisor Road, Monessen. Until that time they will reside with Mrs. Tedesco's mother, in Roscoe.

The Rev. and Mrs. Arthur J. Morley and daughter, Debbie Jo, of Tarentum, Mrs. W. A. Morley, of Barnesboro and Mr. and Mrs. George Hurley, of East McKeesport, visited yesterday with Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hurley, of Broad Ave.

The Belle Vernon Women of the Moose will meet tomorrow evening in the lodge rooms on Broad Ave. extension. There will be an executive session and a membership session.

Win Ribbons in Gladiolus Show

Thomas Dobson, president of the Pennsylvania Gladiolus Society, accompanied by Arthur Wilderspin attended the Gladiolus Show on Saturday at Ellwood City.

Both men entered exhibits that won them red and blue ribbons. Mr. Dobson's miniature entries won the divisional and sectional championships for him.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus Kunkelman, of Speers, both of whom hold office in the state organization did not attend the show, but submitted several entries that were ribbon winners.

The local people are planning to take part in another exhibit next weekend.

The show this past weekend attracted growers from the Tri-State area, and a large number of spectators.

Guest Speaker at Presbyterian Church

The Rev. Ira G. Howard, who serves a pastorate in Florida, was guest speaker yesterday morning at the usual worship service in the First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Mr. Howard, his wife and children are visiting in this area with relatives.

The church pulpit is filled weekly by a guest pastor, and announcement will be made concerning the speaker next week.

The local church has been without the service of a pastor since July 1.

Takes Part in Closed TV Circuit

Bud Vizza, manager of Vizza Motor Co., Broad Ave., Belle Vernon, participated in a coast to coast circuit TV marketing forum at the Webster Hall Hotel, Pittsburgh, last Tuesday.

The forum was led from a New York stage by E. C. Guinn, president of Chrysler Division and beamed to 31 dealers in 31 key markets.

A complete merchandising campaign was demonstrated during the program.

Barry Miller to Enter Ohio State

Barry Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, of Grant St., is spending a few days in Columbus, Ohio. He is taking placement tests at Ohio State University, where he expects to become a student in October when the fall season begins.

A graduate of Bellmar High School this year, Miller has enrolled in the College of Arts and Sciences.

To Renovate Old Church Building

Several men of St. Sebastian Church are preparing to renovate the interior of the old church building on Speer St. to be used for parish social activities and parties held each week.

Rebello Zanardelli is in charge of this work, which the men expect to have done before fall. Volunteers are needed to work on this project.

The Patriotic Order of America will meet on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bertha MacDonald, of Main St.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Federer and son, Freddy, have moved to Pricedale from their apartment in Lynnwood.

Nixon Plans Two Week Vacation

WASHINGTON (UP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon said today he plans to spend a two-week vacation in his native California as soon as Congress adjourns.

Nixon said he has not decided on exact locations but probably will spend one week in northern California and another in the southern part of the state. No exact dates have been set pending more definite prospects for congressional adjournment.

Leaders hope the session can be wound up in about three weeks.

Ladies Guild to Omit Bake Sale

St. Sebastian Church Ladies Guild will dispense with the regular August bake sale, which was scheduled for the second Sunday of the month following each of the masses.

It was decided to suspend this activity since the women cooperated in conducting the lawn fete held at the church last month. The regular bake sale will be held in September.

The women will sponsor a card party on Aug. 21. There was no party in July so the event will be held under the sponsorship of the July and August committees. It will be open to the public, and will be held in the school rooms. Six door prizes and other prizes will be given. A homemade candy sale is also planned.

Boat Sinks Off Florida Coast

MIAMI (UP) — An unidentified boat burned and sank off the Florida coast late Sunday, leaving no trace of survivors, the Coast Guard reported.

Authorities said the only possible clue to identify the vessel was a report that a converted cabin cruiser of approximately the same size was overdue at Port Everglades, Fla. It had two persons aboard, the Coast Guard said.

Hungry Angels

CHICAGO (UP) — What's-in a name? Officials at the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry put two angel fish in a tank with 28 other fish. Soon only thirteen of the 28 non-angels were left.
